

U.N. Fails to Agree on Mideast Resolutions

Soviet Union Emerges as Big Loser

BY MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union emerges as the obvious loser in the failure of the U.N. General Assembly to find a formula for dealing with the explosive situation left in the wake of the Arab-Israeli war.

There were other losers, including the Arabs and the United Nations itself. But as the initiator of the move or the emergency session, the Kremlin came out empty-handed.

If the session was intended as a propaganda project to divert attention from the Soviet setback in the Middle East, as some have said, it proved to be a boomerang.

To measure the extent of the Soviet setback, it is necessary to recall that the emergency assembly was convened because the Russians said the Security Council was unable to cope with the situation.

The implication was that the Soviet Union expected to get the assembly to do what the council refused to do: condemn Israel and call for unconditional withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab territory.

The United States opposed the move, contending that the council had not exhausted all possibilities for action. The Russians looked even worse because they brought Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and the heads of a number of allied governments to New York to lend prestige to the session.

The assembly not only refused to condemn Israel; it refused to adopt any proposal calling for the withdrawal of Israeli forces.

If the Arabs felt the Russians had let them down by failing to send them military aid during the war with Israel, they must have felt similar frustration when Moscow proved unable to muster any action in the assembly.

Long before the Soviet Union began soft-pedaling its demands for condemnation of Israel, the Arabs were lining up behind the nonaligned resolution which made no mention of condemnation.

In the end, both the Russians and the Arabs would have been happy to settle for a simple call for withdrawal of Israeli troops, but they were unable to get even that.

The United Nations suffered because the voting demonstrated that the emergence of the new Asian and African nations had created a split that could block effective action on the Middle East—a problem which had been handled successfully by the assembly in the past.

Thus the Middle East was added to the list of issues outside the range of effective U.N. action.

More Disturbing

The failure of the assembly was more disturbing since U.N. Secretary-General U Thant already was under criticism for withdrawing the U.N. peacekeeping force from Egypt at President Gamal Abdel Nasser's demand.

Many diplomats said frankly that one of their main concerns in trying to find a compromise dealing with the Middle East was to avert a further blow to U.N. prestige. Efforts undoubtedly will continue to keep the United Nations in the picture.

Blast Burns 3 at Waupaca

Explosion, Fire Destroy 30-Foot Excursion Boat

WAUPACA — A Chain O'Lakes excursion boat captain and his two young assistants were burned this morning when an explosion and fire destroyed a 30-foot boat owned by Edmunds Boat Dock.

Carlisle Kotke, 36, King, said the boat, was blown into the water when the blast racked the craft about 9 a.m. shortly after refueling at Rainbow Lake dock. He suffered first degree burns on his face and second degree burns on his hands and arms. Thomas Manske, 11, Stevens Point, suffered first degree burns on his face and second degree burns on his arms and legs. They were hospitalized at Waupaca River-

Diplomats Still Seek Token Move

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Dilemma diplomats at the United Nations cast about today for a face-saving token resolution on the Middle East after rival demands for Israel's withdrawal from Arab soil failed to pass the General Assembly.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan called an afternoon meeting to "finalize" the work of the emergency session that began June 17.

But some delegates expressed belief that if the assembly recessed for a few days, they could muster the needed two-thirds majority for a vaguely worded draft expounding general principles and shunting the real issues back to the Security Council.

The 122-nation assembly defeated four resolutions Tuesday calling on Israel to withdraw its troops from land occupied in Egypt, Syria and Jordan during the June war.

Rescind Annexation

The assembly overwhelmingly approved a resolution calling on Israel to rescind its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem and a Swedish proposal appealing for aid for Arab refugees and other victims of the Arab-Israeli war.

As the delegates gathered to vote, an Israeli military spokesman announced in Tel Aviv that Israeli anti-aircraft fire hit and apparently downed an Egyptian jet fighter and drove off a second plane in the eastern Sinai near Suez.

An Egyptian military spokesman in Cairo denied the Israeli claim "None of our planes have encountered any accidents," he said.

The Arab plane was reported hit by fire from an L70 radar-controlled battery believed in action for the first time in the Middle East. It was the first aerial incident reported since the June 10 cease-fire.

Short of Majority

The assembly first turned down a proposal submitted by Yugoslavia and 17 other non-aligned nations with Soviet support for unconditional Israeli withdrawal. The vote was 53 in favor, 46 opposed, with 20 abstentions, short of the two-thirds majority required.

The assembly also rejected a resolution sponsored by 20 Latin American nations which called for the Israeli withdrawal but linked it to an end to the 19-year-old Arab state of war against Israel. The vote was 57

Reds Enjoy Rare Advantage South of Demilitarized Zone

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) — The mountains, rolling hills and flatlands just below the demilitarized zone, the border with North Vietnam, have become Vietnam's bloodiest battleground.

Some 8,000 Marines have been killed or wounded this year in ambushes, pitched battles, artillery barrages and rocket and mortar attacks. This is roughly two-thirds of all combat men in the 75,000-man Marine force in the region, but most of the wounded return to their units after treatment.

Because of politics, terrain and the nature of guerrilla war, the Leathernecks are fighting with severe tactical disadvantages that may get worse as the war goes on.

In theory the Marines are on the border to prevent massive infiltration into South Vietnam by large North Vietnamese regular units. They have not been able to do this to any degree and have repeatedly been forced into battle at a time and place picked by the enemy.

The fighting this week around Con Thien is a good example.

Lookouts from Con Thien Sunday spotted a moderate sized force of North Vietnamese moving south from the border zone. Two companies were sent after them. The force the Marines spotted was bait for a massive ambush. One Marine company was hit, cut into three segments and virtually wiped out. The second company took high casualties.

In all 58 Americans were killed, 170 were wounded, and 27 were missing, apparently dead.

Nearly everything seems to favor the enemy along the demilitarized zone. Since the area is just over the border, he has a short and solid supply line. The Marines are at the furthestmost end of theirs.

The North Vietnamese have nine Lance Cpl. John P. Cannon, artillery buried and carefully landed at 6:30 a.m. and occupied Kisangani Airport. Earlier the Congo radio said foreign mercenaries had been dropped by parachute both at Kisangani and Bukavu.

Mobutu said the commandos —he did not give their number— landed at 6:30 a.m. and occupied Kisangani Airport. Earlier the Congo radio said foreign mercenaries had been dropped by parachute both at Kisangani and Bukavu.

Commandos Land At Airport in Congo

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — Two unidentified planes landed a group of foreign commandos today at the airport of Kisangani in the northeast Congo, President Joseph D. Mobutu said.

The Congo radio had claimed Tuesday night that 200 Belgian mercenaries were ready to fly to the Congo and free Moise Tshombe if the ex-premier were extradited from Algiers, where he is being held.

Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, is about 775 miles northeast of Kinshasa. It is a former rebel stronghold.

Attack by Settlers

In a radio address to the nation, Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked Bukavu, near the Rwanda border 320 miles Southeast of Kisangani.

The situation throughout the eastern Congo is tense, the Congo radio said.

Mobutu made no attempt to link the reported landings with Tshombe, but the official Algerian news agency implied that they were part of a plot to overthrow Mobutu and reinstate Tshombe, who faces death if he is handed over to the Congo by Algeria.

Tshombe was on a plane flying from Spanish territory last week that was hijacked and landed at Algiers. He has been held there while Algeria decides whether to grant extradition.

Tshombe was sentenced for treason by a military court in Kinshasa. He has been in exile since he was dismissed as premier in October, 1965, and has been living in exile in Europe.

Mobutu said the commandos —he did not give their number— landed at 6:30 a.m. and occupied Kisangani Airport. Earlier the Congo radio said foreign mercenaries had been dropped by parachute both at Kisangani and Bukavu.

Accidents Kill 704

National Toll Sets Record For Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The long holiday weekend ended with a record number of traffic deaths for an Independence Day period.

The total climbed to 704, far over the previous mark of 576 set during last year's three-day observance of the Fourth of July. The four-day weekend toll reached into the lower end of the National Safety Council's advance estimate of 700 to 800.

The holiday tabulation period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Tuesday.

During this year's Memorial Day holiday, also a four-day observance, 608 Americans lost their lives in traffic accidents. It was a record for that holiday.

Highway police went on extra shifts across the country as thousands of motorists took to the roads.

Howard Pyle, safety council president, said that last year an average of 6.6 persons were killed each hour in traffic accidents. The hourly figure from reports for this July 4 period was 6.54.

The states with the highest counts include Texas, California, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Virginia.

Early in the period six Illinois teen-agers died in a head-on collision near Grand Ridge, Ill. Another head-on crash near Bradford, Pa., early Tuesday killed four persons, including a father and two of his sons.

Six persons died Monday near Emporia, Va., when their car skidded out of control on Interstate 95. Police said a tire blow-out may have caused the accident. Five persons died near Flagstaff, Ariz., Monday in the collision of a truck and a car on U.S. 66.

Rural Kaukauna Boy Among 25 to Die in State Crashes

The lives of 25 persons were snuffed out on Wisconsin roads over the four-day July 4 holiday weekend. Included in the traffic fatalities was a 2-year-old rural Kaukauna boy, killed when he darted across a road near his home Monday evening.

The holiday toll also included the deaths of four teen-agers in a single Green Lake County accident. Three more persons died today after the end of the holiday period.

Dead at Kaukauna was Paul John Van Den Bosch, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Den Bosch, route 1. The boy suffered a broken neck when struck by a car on State 55 one mile north of Kaukauna about 8 p.m. Monday.

McNamara Flies To Saigon Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will fly to Vietnam tonight on his ninth trip "to review all aspects of the war," the Pentagon announced.

McNamara had planned to go earlier but delayed his departure when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin came to the United States.

Accompanying the defense chief will be several top civilian and military leaders including Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler. The Pentagon did not specify how long McNamara will be gone. His trips are usually brief.

'Worst Weekend Ever'

Lake Geneva Calm as Youth Invasion Ends

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)—This resort city in southern Wisconsin looked like its pleasant self this morning, instead of the armed camp it had been since being invaded Saturday by restless, rock-throwing youngsters.

Sheriff Alex Johnson said the weekend was "the worst Lake Geneva has ever experienced. It was the first time we had to call out the National Guard."

Sheriff's deputies and 600 Guardsmen—aided by chilly weather—kept taut order Tuesday, maintaining roadblocks which closed the city to all but residents.

Today townspeople and state officials began assessing the damage and the cause of the outbursts which sent about 300 youngsters of high school and college age to jail during the weekend.

Most were bailed out by parents but some 30 were still in the county jail at Walworth on disorderly conduct or various drinking charges.

Adjutant Gen. Ralph Olson said National Guardsmen began leaving Tuesday evening.

Officials estimated 3,000 to 5,000 young people began arriving for the holiday Saturday evening.

Guard Alerted

Gov. Warren P. Knowles declared a state of emergency in the area Sunday afternoon and ordered guard units alerted. About 100 state troopers were sent into Lake Geneva.

Disturbances and destruction continued Monday and other guard units were brought in plus beefed-up squads of deputies from nearby counties.

After a curfew was imposed Monday, nearby Fontana, Delavan and Williams Bay also reported window breaking, rock throwing and other vandalism.

Consumer Now in Best Position to Up Buying

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you're a typical U.S. consumer, you are now in the best financial position ever to buy a mounting total of goods and services, ranging from autos

Our country are confident that you will perceptibly increase your rate of buying this fall and winter. This expectation is a crucial factor in their forecasts of a quickening pace of business upturn in coming months

Because of the higher cost of living and the situation in your own industry or area, you may scoff at the statement that the average consumer is "in the best financial position ever to buy." But the statistical evidence is clear.

Peak Income

(1) If you're typical, your personal income is up to an all-time peak.

In May, personal incomes reached $617 billion, a rise of $3 billion in one month and of $44 billion in 12 months. Bringing it down to more understandable terms, the market research firm of Sind-linger & Co. estimates the average household income of U.S. consumers at $8,298 in the first quarter of 1967. However, many of the most informed economists in

(2) If you're typical, you have substantially increased your rate of saving in recent months and you now have a record high total in savings.

You saved 6.5 per cent of your after-tax income in the first quarter, the highest savings percentage since the recession third wedding anniversary. On duty later, Casper was cent more than your rate of dispatched to the scene of a traffic accident. There he found the body of his wife and the crumpled cycle. She had been struck from the rear by a car as she waited to make a turn. The motorist fled

A one per cent increase in the saving rate may seem minor but it actually represents the subtraction of more than $5 billion from the spending stream (one per cent of a disposable income of $528 billion).

A Sindlinger survey in May disclosed twice as many households reporting an increase in savings than a decrease; a year ago the reverse was true. Considering the variety and volume of goods and services beckoning your dollars, you've been on a spectacular savings spree.

Reduced Debts

(3) Finally, if you're typical, you have been reducing your debts and placing yourself in the most favorable debt situation in many years.

Increases in both installment and non-installment debts have been modest by any yardstick this year. In April, for the second time in 1967, you repaid more on your outstanding auto debts than you took on in new auto debts.

The growth in mortgage debts has been stalled for many months.

Undeniably, price increases for two-thirds of all the spending have reduced the purchasing power of each dollar earned and over-emphasized the power of saved. Because of higher prices, your individual decisions over a shorter workweek and moderately higher Social Security Just return to your usual taxes, the real pay of the spending and saving habits — average worker is lower than it that's all — and you'll pour was at this time a year ago billions of dollars into our This dims but it does not economy virtually overnight

Flag Flies at Half Staff to Observe Town Disasters

RIPPERDAN, Calif. (AP) — Flags flew at half staff over this sleepy San Joaquin Valley farm town on Independence Day after a weekend of disaster.

"Nothing's ever happened here before," said Art Anderson, a life-long resident in this town of just under 100 persons. "Then all hell broke loose." First there was a robbery at Rose's Cafe. Next a flash fire wiped out half of Ripperdan. Then the fireman who saved the other half of town died in an automobile accident.

The fire began in Roy Sakiya's barber shop Saturday and destroyed the general store, a gas station, saloon, warehouse and five homes. No one was injured.

The blaze was battled by Jack Cooper, 43, the only fireman for the State Division of Forestry at the Ripperdan fire station. Monday he was killed when his car overturned on Fresno-Friant road.

6,000 Jordan Troops Killed, Missing in War

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Premier Saad Jumaa announced today that 6,094 members of the Jordanian armed forces were killed or missing in the Arab-Israeli war. He said 762 were wounded and 463 taken prisoner.

730 Israeli soldiers who the Israeli Defense Ministry said Tuesday were killed in the war against Egypt, Syria and Jordan. The Israelis said 2,800 of their men were wounded, and 1,700 of these were permanently disabled.

Jumaa said most of the prisoners, who were returned recently, were also wounded.

The students live on-campus and do basic work in drawing, design as well as in individually selected areas of painting, sculpture, graphics and architectural design. Their work will be exhibited at the end of the workshop session. Miss Van De Weghe received a workshop scholarship from the Valley National Bank and the First National Bank of Appleton.

Four Appleton students are attending the National High School Institute at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Review Board to Delay Hearings On Assessments

LITTLE CHUTE — The first official meeting of the board of review will be held at 7 p.m. July 10, but the board will not be ready for visitors and plans to adjourn until work on the assessment roll is completed, according to Richard Kilsdonk, assessor.

Kilsdonk took over as assessor earlier this year and is working closely with Nick VanderPas, former assessor, on completing the roll. Plans call for the assessor to have assessment books open for residents prior to each meeting of the board of review so persons will be able to study the roll and make appearances before the board.

Persons having assessment changes will be notified and an announcement will be made when the board is ready to hear persons having questions or complaints.

2 Women, Man Injured In Two-Car Mishap Near Shiocton Sunday

SHIOCTON — Injuries were suffered by three persons in a two-car accident about 10:15 a.m. Sunday on State 54 about a mile west of here.

Outagamie County sheriff's authorities said Shirley M. LaValley, 306 N. Appleton St., collided with a vehicle driven by William A. Roggow, 60, Green Bay.

Authorities said the Roggow vehicle was driving left of the center line on the highway during a rainstorm when the two vehicles met head-on.

Taken to New London Community Hospital were Miss LaValley, who complained of leg, knee and possible head injuries; Roggow, who was cut on the head, and Edna A. Roggow, a passenger in the car, who sustained leg and knee injuries.

Damage to the 1955 model LaValley vehicle was estimated at $300. Damage to the 1966 model Roggow car was listed at about $800.

Daniels did not enter pleas to four charges facing him. No trial has been set.

He was stopped by Appleton police after 6:30 a.m. June 24 in the 200 block of N. State Street for reckless driving.

Two days later Daniels was stopped about 4:20 p.m. in the 1500 block of S. Bartel Street for driving an unregistered vehicle, failure to transfer title and improper use of license plates.

Leonard Clausen, 19, route 1, Shiocton, was in the Outagamie County Jail Monday after he failed to pay $95 and costs on two charges of which he was found guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Clausen was fined $20 and costs or 12 days in jail for loitering in a bar and $75 and costs or 36 days in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct. Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered the sentences to run consecutively if Clausen does not pay the fine.

U.S. at Point Of Changing Its Foreign Policy

Replace Doctrine
Begun by Truman

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. foreign policy is at a turning point although, like other turns in American history, at the moment it seems more sensed than seen.

The New Deal is a good previous example of how this country, when it has to break with the past, must feel its way along. A new direction had to be found when the depression hit over 30 years ago.

It was learned only gradually that the government must take responsibility for the general welfare. All the social legislation since has been based on that concept although it wasn't until 1946 that Congress said so flatly.

When the United States got into World War II it seemed likely, but not certain, it would now at last shake off its ancient isolationism, something it did not do after World War I.

Far-Ranging Policy

Its first gesture toward a new internationalism was helping create the United Nations in 1945. But it wasn't until 1947, with Greece and Turkey under Communist pressure, that a new, far-ranging foreign policy was laid down.

President Harry S. Truman did it with his doctrine that this country would support "free people who are resisting attempted subjugation" and trying to work out their "own destiny."

Truman could afford to be so sweeping at that time when, in a way, the United States was master of the world. It alone had the atomic bomb in 1947. But all that followed had its roots in the Truman Doctrine: the Marshall Plan of economic aid, breaking Stalin's Berlin blockade, the defense of South Korea against invasion from North Korea, sending troops into the Dominican Republic and involvement in Vietnam.

Two-Way Street

The United States became extremely cautious about knocking heads with the Soviet Union after Moscow developed its own hydrogen weapons. This was a two-way street. The Soviets became cautious about the United States, except for Nikita Khrushchev's one big goof when he tried to put missiles in Cuba.

A good example of this double caution was the way the United States and the Soviet Union pussy-footed around the crisis in the Middle East where, if they got directly involved, they would have been on opposite sides.

But the sorest chapter in the Truman Doctrine—for Americans, at least—has been the Vietnam involvement, a slow, gradual thing until now almost 500,000 U. S. troops are in the war.

For Americans it's bad enough to be in a war at all. But this is a totally frustrating war. It is against a primitive people and the United States is fighting with one hand tied behind its back. It is not using anything like its full power. Nuclear bombs, for instance.

Continuous Wars

Not only American lives and money have been spent in Vietnam, but the criticism at home and elsewhere has been intense. For one thing, this country can't afford continuous wars like this, even though its purpose is to prevent a Communist takeover.

That's enough to make Congress and the policy-makers reluctant to get involved in anything like it often or soon again.

But something else has happened. The United States would never permit Moscow or Red China to intrude in its own backyard, like Latin America. When the United States barged into China's backyard in this war in Southeast Asia, the Chinese were no match, except in ground forces, for American military power.

Enough Bombs

But now they have had their hydrogen explosions and in a few years no doubt will have enough hydrogen bombs and missiles to risk a war with this country. The United States will have to be far more cautious than it was when it decided to go into Vietnam.

And even in economic aid the policy is likely to become more selective, for although the United States has pumped out billions to help other countries—with a desire, of course, to keep them in the American camp—the results have not all been happy.

3 U.S. Women Gain Semifinals

Germany's Bungert Faces Pilic in Men's Top Test

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Wilhelm Bungert, the tennis star with the ice-cold nerves, had a tough semifinal date on the center court today in his bid to become Germany's first Wimbledon champion.

He faced Roger Taylor, the tough British left-hander — the man he defeated in a Davis Cup clash last year.

In the other semifinal John Newcombe of Australia, who is now the top favorite, faced left-handed giant killer Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, three of the four U.S. girls won their matches in Tuesday's women's quarter-finals.

Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King of Long Beach, Calif., overcame Britain's Virginia Wade, 7-5, 6-2. Rosemary Casals, 18, of San Francisco defeated Judy Tegar of Australia 7-5, 6-4. Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., upset the No. 6 seed, Lesley Turner of Australia, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2.

These Green Bay Packer rookies will play in Saturday night's Coaches All-America game at Atlanta. They are Bob Hyland (60) and Dave Dunaway. The game will be televised at 8:30 p.m. on Channel 11.

Cubs Drop Pair, Fall to Second Place; Mets Snap Marichal's 19-Win Skein

Cards Take Sole Lead Despite Losing to Reds

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Brother turned on brother and Juan Marichal was beaten by his cousins, but the Chicago Cubs' family fireworks fizzled when they blew a chance to turn their backs on the rest of their National League relatives.

The Cubs, baseball's Cinderella team of 1967 after finishing last in 1966, needed only one victory Tuesday to stand alone in first place. Instead they lost a day-night doubleheader to Atlanta 8-3 and 4-2.

Even when Joe Niekro lost to brother Phil—the first time in major league history brothers started on the mound against each other—in the opener, the Cubs still had a chance as St. Louis dropped its single game to Cincinnati 1-0.

But the second-game defeat dropped the Cubs out of a tie for first and left them a half-game behind the Cardinals at the Fourth of July milestone, in which 58 per cent of the league leaders on that date have gone on to win the pennant.

Long Streak Ends

Marichal also got his comeuppance as the New York Mets outslugged San Francisco 8-7 and beat the Giant ace for the first time in their history after losing to him 19 times.

Elsewhere in the league Pittsburgh outlasted Los Angeles 9-7 and Philadelphia swept a pair from Houston 9-0 and 4-3 in 11 innings.

The Cubs managed just four hits off Phil Niekro's knuckleball while his younger brother, the fourth, Kings Fool, $14, in left after Mack Jones' first of the sixth, before taking a rest in the seventh round.

He came back to score with Queen of Action, $10.60 in the eighth and Four Fingers, $5.80 in the Maxflower. After sitting out the 10th, he made a game and in the eleventh, but had to settle for third aboard Royal Nashua.

Yarborough Wins '400'

Edges Hutcherson On Final Lap At Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Second place is the key to victory at Daytona, says Cale Yarborough, so long as you're not sitting there when the checkered flag drops.

This was Yarborough's strategy Tuesday as he slipped by Ford teammate Dick Hutcherson to win the Daytona Firecracker 400 by what track officials called "a split fraction of a second."

Yarborough, in the second major victory of his driving career, led a pack of four factory Fords across the finish line to a sweep of the ninth annual event. His average speed was 143.583 miles per hour.

Hutcherson of Camden, S.C., was second; Darel Dieringer, Charlotte, N.C., was third and David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., was fourth.

Yarborough bolted past Hutcherson on the last lap.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, winner of the Indianapolis 500 and the 24-hour of Le Mans, dropped out early when the wheel-bearing on his Ford froze.

Foxes Retain Lead After Splitting Holiday Games

Two-Hitter Stops Win Streak at 5

BY JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A pair of Waterloo pitchers limited the Appleton Foxes to just two hits and the Hawks went on to hand the Foxes a 4-2 setback at Goodland Field Tuesday night.

Despite having their winning streak snapped at five games, the Foxes retained the Midwest League lead for second-round play.

Bernie Linn started the game for Waterloo but was lifted after three innings although he had allowed only one hit. The Foxes did manage to score two runs while Linn was hurling, but both were unearned as errors kept the Hawk hurler in the hole.

Raul Mercado came on in the fourth and did a masterful job for Waterloo as he allowed only one more hit to the Foxes. Mercado was in trouble only once when his mates committed a pair of errors in the sixth, but the sharp looking right-hander set down the last 11 batters in order.

Weber Starts

Appleton's home-town product, Neil Weber, started the game and did a creditable job. Four errors behind Weber and one misfire of his doing played a part in the defeat. Weber allowed five hits in the seven innings he worked and was charged with all four Waterloo runs, three of which were earned. The lanky Weber walked four and fanned seven batters.

Tonight, the Foxes and Waterloo will go at it again in the windup of the 2-game set. The Foxes currently have a 5-2 record in second half play and both defeats have been administered by the Hawks.

The Foxes got off to a good start by scoring two runs in the first inning. Jose Ortiz opened with a walk and then took second on a passed ball. Jeff Kolb grounded to the third baseman, who fired wildly to first. Roy Radmaker then came through with a single sending Kolb to third, but Art Kusnyer grounded into a double play — with Kolb scoring.

Fires 2-Hitter as Does Detroit's Wilson; Twins Within Three of First

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy John's staying power has helped the Chicago White Sox cheat the undertaker again. But Minnesota's rampaging Twins won't let the American League leaders catch their breath.

John pitched a two-hitter and singled home Chicago's first run in 31 innings Tuesday, leading the White Sox to a 4-0 victory over Baltimore. The slim left-hander's full-route performance was the first for the Sox in their last seven games.

Minnesota's Tony Oliva, meanwhile, drove two more coffin nails into the New York Yankees, stroking the key hits in an 8-3, 7-6 doubleheader sweep that carried the Twins into second place, three games behind Chicago.

The double setback dropped the eighth-place Yankees eight games under .500. After last July 4 they were seven under the break-even mark and headed for the cellar.

Checks Boston

Elsewhere, Detroit whipped Cleveland 6-1 behind Earl Wilson's two-hitter. California checked Boston's four-game winning streak 4-3 and Kansas City blanked Washington 4-0 after losing the doubleheader opener 4-3.

John, 7-5, stymied the Orioles except for a leadoff triple by Luis Aparicio in the fourth inning and a sixth-inning single by the Baltimore shortstop. He struck out six and did not walk a batter.

"His going the route couldn't come at a more opportune time," said Manager Eddie Stanky. "Our bullpen is exhausted and needs rest, especially with the four-game weekend with Minnesota coming up."

The Sox collide with the Twins, who have won seven in a row, at Chicago over the weekend.

Stanky had used six pitchers in Saturday night's 14-inning 1-0 loss to the Orioles.

Oliva, sound again after a series of injuries and ailments, lifted Minnesota past the Yankees in their nightcap with a run-scoring single in the ninth. Earlier in the game he had tripped a run home and singled.

In the opener, he belted a bases-empty homer, drove in another run with a sacrifice fly and also had a single. While extending his hitting streak to five games, Oliva's 5-for-9 day lifted his batting mark to .250.

Lost in the Twins' sweep were a pair of first-game homers by Mickey Mantle that sent the Yankee slugger past Mel Ott into the fifth spot on the all-time list with 512.

Fitzmorris Hurls Ninth Win of Year

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Appleton Foxes used an unspectacular approach in lengthening their victory chain to five games here Monday night.

As the Foxes recorded a 9-3 win over Clinton, their noisiest pre-July 4th explosion was a double by Joe Monty. And, in its game-breaking, 5-run, fourth-inning rally, Appleton's loudest offensive gesture was a safe bunt by Jose Ortiz.

However, the modest (8-hit) attack was more than enough for the opportunistic Midwest League leaders and their pitching ace, Al Fitzmorris.

Fitzmorris, who pitched his 10th complete game in 14 starts, halted a personal losing streak at two by notching his ninth success in 13 decisions. Though it was not one of Al's more artistic performances in a brilliant inaugural pitching season (eight hits, three earned runs, three walks and seven strikeouts), he was in complete control after the Foxes staked him to a 6-1 lead in the fourth frame.

Laxton Loses Range

Fitzmorris' mound rival, southpaw Bill Laxton, was exploding strikes all over Goodland Field in the first three innings. He fanned seven batters — five of them successively — in that span. But, in the fourth — just after his teammates had pulled him even, at 1-1 — Laxton's last ball became a misguided missile.

Laxton opened the bottom of the fourth by walking Roy Radmaker, Art Kusnyer and Joe Monty consecutively. He found the plate long enough to

Jockey Posts 7 Wins in Row

BOSTON (AP) — Leroy Moyers, said was out of the money with a race at Suffolk Downs five years ago, considers the track his lucky strip — and with good reason.

The 30-year-old jockey exploded like a Fourth of July firecracker and shattered U.S. thoroughbred racing records by booting home seven straight winners Tuesday before a holiday crowd of 21,832 fans.

A handful of riders have ridden seven winners, but not with consecutive mounts. Several also have gone 6-for-6, but it took Moyers to go seven in a row on a single program.

Harada Keeps Bantam Title

Gains Unanimous Decision Over Bernardo Caraballo

TOKYO (AP) — Masahiko "Fighting" Harada of Japan retained his world bantam weight boxing title today by scoring a unanimous 15-round decision over Bernardo Caraballo of Colombia.

Each boxer weighed 118 pounds, the bantamweight limit. Referee Ko Toyama of Japan scored it 72-66, judge Hal Drake of the United States had it 71-68 and Japanese judge Ken Mori's card showed 72-68, all for the scrappy Harada, who made his fourth defense of the crown he won from Eder Jofre of Brazil on May 18, 1965.

The Associated Press also had the titleholder the winner 72-68. Harada, 24, floored the 25-year-old challenger for a mandatory eighth count with a right to the jaw in the opening round. It was the only knockdown of the spirited match.

Harada's record is now 48 victories and three losses. The loss was only Caraballo's second against 54 victories.

'Ki-Ki' Cuyler's Grandson Signs With Orioles

HARRISVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Harold "Butch" Cuyler, grandson of the late baseball star, Hazen "Ki-Ki" Cuyler, has signed a contract with the Baltimore Orioles.

The 24-year-old infielder has been assigned to play with Baltimore's farm club at Bluefield, W.Va.

Cuyler recently was graduated from Western Michigan University.

His grandfather starred as an outfielder with the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates during his career.

Stanky Lauds Chisox' 'Bounce-Back' Ability

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox American League lead has been shaved to three games by the onrushing Minnesota Twins, and some earlier predictions may be shaved a little, too.

After the Sox averted a three-game losing streak by blanking the Baltimore Orioles 4-0 Tuesday night behind Tommy John's two-bitter, Manager Eddie Stanky was asked:

"About a month ago, you were quoted as saying if the White Sox were leading the league by July 4, they would go on to the pennant because pitching was such a big factor in the last half of the season. Do you still reason this way?"

Stanky had a snapping reply. Strong Contention

"First, let's get it straight on what I really said," he commented. "I said, and I still say, that if this club is ahead, or if it is even out of the lead by two games, by the All-Star break, it would be in strong contention the rest of the way because of its pitching staff and its custom of winning close games."

After setting the record straight, Stanky added that this club has been bouncing back all year.

"There have been a lot of Bunning with a two-run homer mortuary people around the White Sox but they won't go in it. They are getting oxygen from somewhere. We haven't had more than a three-game losing streak — and that only twice—all year and that's what is saving us."

"John is a much better pitcher than his 7-5 record shows. He has been victim of such things as bad-hop singles. But last night he said he could follow the game pattern as planned and got the ball where he wanted it."

"His going the route couldn't have come at a more opportune time," Stanky continued. "Our bullpen is exhausted and needs rest, especially with the four-game weekend with Minnesota coming up."

John yielded only a leadoff triple by Luis Aparicio in the fourth and a single by him in the sixth as he struck out six and walked none.

John also singled in the first Sox run in the fifth that ended a streak of 30 scoreless innings.

McNertney's fly ball in the same inning had advanced run-

"I said, and I still say, that if this club is ahead, or if it is even out of the lead by two games, by the All-Star break, it would be in strong contention the rest of the way because of its pitching staff and its custom of winning close games."

After setting the record straight, Stanky added that this club has been bouncing back all year.

"There have been a lot of Bunning with a two-run homer mortuary people around the White Sox but they won't go in it. They are getting oxygen from somewhere. We haven't had more than a three-game losing streak — and that only twice—all year and that's what is saving us."

"John is a much better pitcher than his 7-5 record shows. He has been victim of such things as bad-hop singles. But last night he said he could follow the game pattern as planned and got the ball where he wanted it."

"His going the route couldn't have come at a more opportune time," Stanky continued. "Our bullpen is exhausted and needs rest, especially with the four-game weekend with Minnesota coming up."

John yielded only a leadoff triple by Luis Aparicio in the fourth and a single by him in the sixth as he struck out six and walked none.

John also singled in the first Sox run in the fifth that ended a streak of 30 scoreless innings.

Buckpasser Wins With Stretch Drive

Gives Away 22 Pounds in $109,800 Aqueduct Race

NEW YORK (AP)—"I wouldn't have given you 1,000 to 1 for his chances at the quarter-pole. At the eighth pole I thought we had a chance for second but to win—never. Remember we were giving that other horse 22 pounds. It was his greatest race."

"I didn't think he could make it. But he did. I don't know how."

"He must be the greatest. What a finish. I'm limp."

The first quotes were those of trainer Eddie Deloy. The second were those of jockey Braulio Baeza and the third came from owner Ogden Phipps.

They probably were repeated hundreds of times among the 49,282 fans at Aqueduct Tuesday. And they all concerned one subject—Buckpasser, whose amazing finish carried him to a half-length victory in the 1 1/4-mile $109,800 Suburban Handicap.

Four lengths back and not making up much ground with one-eighth mile remaining, still not much closer with one-sixteenth to go, the strapping 4-year-old suddenly turned on all of his thoroughbred power and a few yards from the finish line swept past the front running Ring Twice.

"The jock hit him once at the top of the stretch, and I think he resented it," said Deloy. "Then he personally took charge of the situation."

Atlanta's Phil Niekro Wins Over Cubs' Joe

Major League History Made When Brothers Square Off on Mound

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — As in the Civil War, brother faced brother. Only this time, it was major league baseball history being made as brothers faced each other in the role of starting pitchers for the first time. On the mound was Joe Niekro for the Chicago Cubs and Phil Niekro Jr. for the Atlanta Braves. And in the stands was Phil Niekro Sr., proud father of the Niekro brothers, who had made his first airplane trip to see his sons pitch. The senior Niekro, a 54-year-old former amateur pitcher from Lansing, Ohio, who taught his son to throw the knuckler. "I never dreamed I'd have first plane trip to see us pitch two boys in the big leagues," he beamed. When the 22-year-old Joe was in Little League age, he wouldn't play catch in the back yard with his brother five years his senior without exacting a promise that he wouldn't throw the knuckler. However, on this Independence Day afternoon, Joe was in no position to make such a stipulation so Phil Jr., his knuckler dancing crazily limited the Cubs to four hits and Joe was lifted for a pinch-hitter after pitching only three innings. The younger Phil, his famous knuckler teasing Cub batters with its zany butterfly actions, allowed Chicago only four hits as the Braves snapped their winning steak at seven games, 3-1. "I wanted a good game for about it," Joe declared. "I'm sure he was more emotional about this than Joe and I were. We try and improve my game," Joe nodded in agreement. "I'm sure it was rougher on Dad than on us," he said. The brothers insisted there was nothing different about this game. Both of us had a job to do and we did it," the Atlanta right-hander said.

Wanted Good Game

How did Phil Sr. feel about it? "I wanted a good game for about it," Joe declared. "I'm sure he was more emotional about this than Joe and I were. We try and improve my game," Joe nodded in agreement. "I'm sure it was rougher on Dad than on us," he said. The brothers insisted there was nothing different about this game. Both of us had a job to do and we did it," the Atlanta right-hander said.

Speedway Title

Doug Ford Says
 Feud With PGA
 Will be Settled

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Billy Casper, his hip pocket bulging from that $30,000 playoff victory in the Canadian Open, headed a field of professionals tuning up today for the $100,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament.

Forty-seven pros played over the 7,179-yard Speedway Course in a pro-am event. The tourney begins Thursday.

Casper, regarded as one of the best putters on the tour, won top money in the Canadian Open Monday when he blistered Art Wall.

Playing out of Peacock Gap, Calif., Casper won the Speedway last year and also in 1962.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus are not playing in the Speedway this year.

Clubhouse talk has been spiked with the feud between the touring professionals and the Professional Golf Association.

Doug Ford, a member of the tournament committee, said he felt the problem will be settled. He talked Tuesday night with PGA president Max Elbin.

"We're very close now... just dickering on a technicality," Ford said. "It's just a matter of two or three words." The PGA have given in a little. The players plan to vote tonight on whether to participate in the PGA sponsored Denver Championship July 20-23.

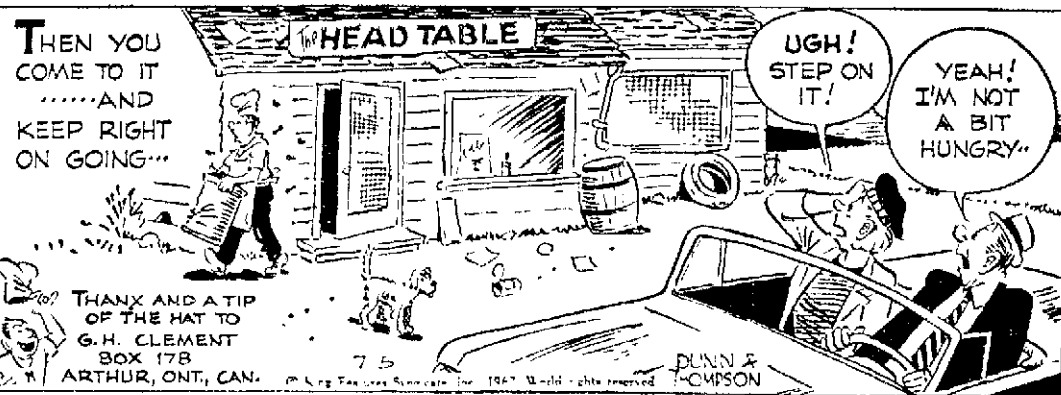

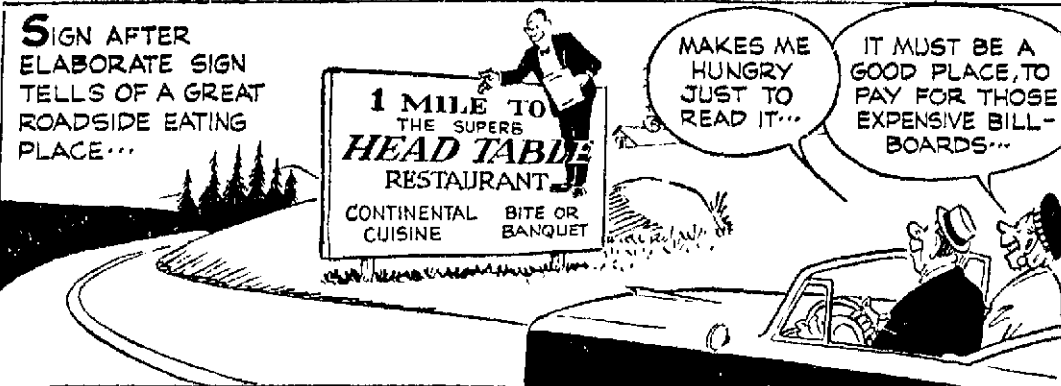

The hassle came to a head when the PGA executive committee vetoed the proposed $175,000 Frank Sinatra golf tournament.

Yankee Rookie Injured, May be Out 2-3 Weeks

ANAHEIM (AP) — The New York Yankees sent rookie outfielder Bill Robinson to New York Sunday for examination of a torn string muscle he suffered in a game here Saturday night.

Robinson will be examined by Dr. Sidney Gaynor, Yankee team physician. The Yanks fear the youngster may be sidelined for two to three weeks.

Robinson suffered the injury to his right leg running from first to third in the first inning Saturday.

Second East Star Injured

Tennessee's Naumoff Has Muscle Pull; Coaches Optimistic

ATLANTA (AP) — Tennessee's All-America linebacker, Paul Naumoff, is the second casualty as the East and West squads drill for Saturday night's coaches' All-America football game.

Naumoff suffered a pulled back muscle in Tuesday's two-hour workout.

Naumoff's injury was not believed serious, and he is expected to be going at full speed in about 24 hours.

"I thought we had a good practice," East coach Tom Cahill of Army said.

The first injured player was Billy Schorer of Georgia Tech who was hurt last Friday in a freak situation with no contact involved. Despite the injury problem, Cahill said his squad "is every bit as far along as we had hoped."

West coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska said his squad was "a lot better today."

The East has named a replacement for Schorer. He is Larry Wright, defensive end from Ft. Valley State College.

Cause of Many Injuries

Survey Indicates Need to Eliminate Football 'Spearing'

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — They pointed to the hazards of spearing after finding that most football fatalities since 1960 resulted from head and neck injuries, and last year 23 of 24 deaths resulted from such injuries.

The report said this practice of driving the head directly and with force into the body of an opposing player "is extremely dangerous to the ball carrier, and more frequently, however, it is the tackler who is the more and neck injuries in football," the report added.

The football fatality survey was prepared by Dr. Carl A. Blyth of the University of North Carolina and David C. Arnold of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Association in Chicago.

The survey for college, professional and sandlot football was prepared by Dr. Blyth and Arnold covered the high school phase.

Enforce Rules

They urged coaches and officials to enforce the rules prohibiting spearing.

"The helmet is designed as a protective device and should not be used as a weapon," they said.

The 24 deaths resulting directly from football were one less than the year before. Twenty occurred in high school football and four in sandlot play.

Deaths from indirect causes—such as heat stroke or heart failure—totaled only eight last year compared with 24 in 1965.

Other findings: About half the direct fatal injuries in football occur during regular games.

Defensive players have slightly more fatal injuries than offensive players.

Tacklers suffered about 32 per cent of the direct fatalities, ball carriers 14 per cent and blockers 10 per cent.

Waterloo Ends Foxes' Streak

third when an error and a walk put two runners on base, but Linn worked his way out of trouble.

The lone scoring threat for the Foxes after Mercado took the mound came in the sixth. Two consecutive errors put Radmaker and Kusnyer on base with no outs. George Hunter drove a deep fly to center which was caught, and then Joe Monty singled to load the bases.

Chuck Brinkman popped one to the second baseman in short right field for the second out and Karl Simon, who is still looking for his first hit since joining the Foxes, grounded to the shortstop.

The outs by Brinkman and Simon started Mercado on his string of retiring 11 in a row.

Three in Second

Waterloo took the lead by pushing three runs across the plate in the second and then added an insurance run in the seventh.

In the second, Weber walked the first two batters he faced, John Frye and Mike Koritko. Tom Walsh hit a grounder to short which Monty fielded cleanly and then made a bad throw to third in an effort to get the lead runner. This loaded the bases for the Hawks, and John Jason took advantage of the situation by slugging a double to left center and all three runners scored. Weber then struck out the next two batters.

In the seventh, Luis Alvarado doubled and scored when Weber dropped the ball on a play at first base when Felix Maldonado beat out a bunt for a hit.

Mason was the hitting star for the Hawks with 2-for-3 and three runs batted in.

Physical Control Over Body Extends to Success in Class

BY LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

What does the coordination and control of large muscles have to do with a child's success in school? Plenty!

Muscle control is involved in learning to draw pictures, use crayons, paint and write. A child who has learned to write with ease has better success in spelling and reading than one who writes with difficulty.

Success in school depends also on a child's happiness, and a child's happiness depends on his ability to play games successfully with the other children. A child entering first grade should be able to throw a ball and perhaps bat a ball and catch a ball. He should have some experience in skipping, hopscotch and other games that children play at this age.

As Tom entered the first grade he was afraid to climb jungle gym and had no skill in batting or catching a ball.

In the classroom he seemed crayon there until you have a dustpan The three- and four-year-olds should have large drawing pictures or copying and in another direction When sheets of cheap paper so that he extends his line to reach the they can draw large pictures third dot, his control or lack of and color them with large letters.

Brezhnev Defends Lack of Physical Support During Middle East Crisis

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top leader indicated today that the Arabs still can expect no Soviet military action to aid them against Israel.

Communist Party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev defended Soviet policy in the Middle East after informed sources reported division within the Kremlin high command over how far to go in support of the Arabs.

Brezhnev told a Kremlin reception for military academy graduates that "looking back, we can say with certainty today that our actions were correct in the crucial days of the Middle East crisis."

Assistance Limited

The Soviet Union, he continued, "firmly and resolutely supports the Arab states and is rendering them all-round assistance." But he appeared to limit this assistance by saying President Nikolai V. Podgorniy's recent talks in Egypt, Syria and Iraq "will undoubtedly facilitate the coordination of joint action in the political struggle in defense of the rights and interests of the U.A.R., Syria and other Arab countries."

By assistance, Brezhnev presumably also referred to the weapons which the Soviets reportedly have shipped to Egypt

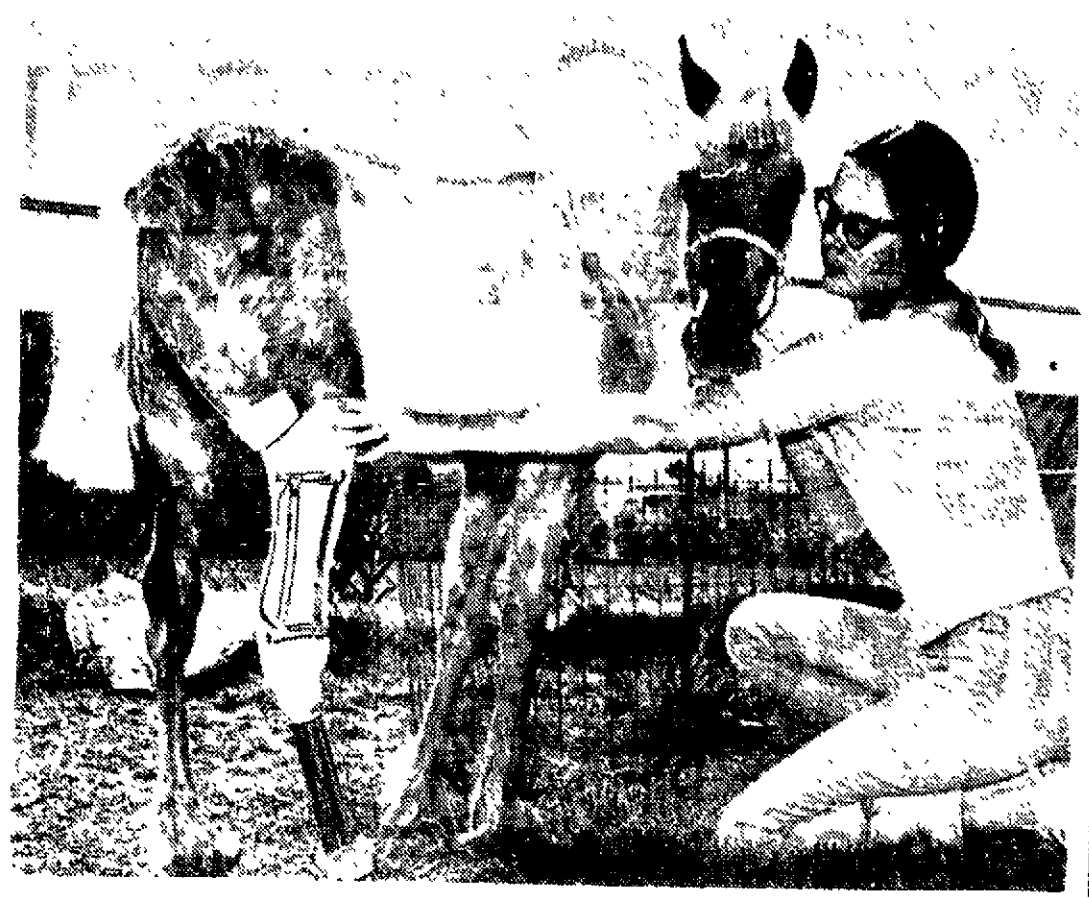

Only Emergency Landing Strip in Middle of Road

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Brooks Calvin Odiorne was flying over Boca Raton Tuesday night when the engine in his small airplane stopped, and he could see only one relatively flat piece of ground that looked suitable for a landing strip.

So Odiorne, 22, of Opa-Locka, put the plane down on the grassy median strip between the north and south lanes of busy U.S. 1 on the southern edge of Boca Raton.

The flier suffered a cut lip and a bloody nose but the plane was undamaged and the only ill effects for motorists were jammed nerves.

Odiorne, ferrying the craft to Kissimmee, said he would worry about removing the plane after Federal Aviation Agency investigators inspect it in an effort to learn why the engine failed.

Four Routes Possible

Underground Nuclear Blasts Might Open 2nd Central American Canal

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. sites to use for a new canal route, which appears to be lagging in consideration, is a 138-mile stretch along the Costa Rica-Nicaragua border.

Metereological, seismic, blast, biological and other environmental studies will serve as a basis to determine whether the remote routes in eastern Panama and northwestern Colombia can be safely excavated with nuclear explosives.

Redig Old Canal

However, on the basis of comparative cost, nuclear explosions apparently are being given the considerable support except for the present Panama Canal route. If chosen, it probably would be excavated by conventional explosives because of the population in its vicinity.

New Treaties

Attention was focused on the canal question anew last week when it was announced that the United States and Panama concluded agreement on new treaties dealing with the possible building of a new sea-level canal and operation of the present Panama Canal.

There has been no decision yet on which of four possible

Mrs. Wallace Enters Houston Tumor Clinic

History of Previous Cancer Operation Examined by Doctors

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cancer specialists studied Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace's medical records today before starting tests to determine the extent of a recurrent malignancy.

The nation's only woman governor, who thought she had won the battle against cancer 18 months ago, brought the files with her Tuesday when she entered a highly regarded tumor clinic.

After the diagnostic tests, the 40-year-old mother of four may undergo surgery, as she did in Montgomery, Ala., in January, 1966.

Anderson Hospital

Smiling and in good spirits, the sun-tanned governor stepped off a private plane at the Houston airport shortly after noon Tuesday and rode across town, behind a police escort, to the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital.

She was accompanied by her husband, George, who preceded her as governor and is a possible candidate for president next year, and by their eldest daughter, Mrs. James Parsons. Also making the trip from Montgomery aboard a twin-engine turboprop plane was a family friend, Mary Jo Ventress of Montgomery.

Security guards from Alabama flew to Houston just ahead of her.

At the entrance to the 300-bed hospital the governor was asked by a newsmen how she felt.

Feels Fine

"Fine, thank you," she smiled. "I feel fine." Nervous? "Not at all," she replied.

Mrs. Wallace, in a white two-piece suit, was greeted outside the hospital by its director and surgeon-in-chief, Dr. Randolph Lee Clark.

Police stood guard in the hospital parking lot and along the hallways inside. A room across the hall from the governor's suite was assigned to the security force from Alabama.

An aide said one or more armed security officers would be on duty around the clock, to answer phone calls and watch the governor's room.

Art Gallery Flooded For 'Total Environment' Effect in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Douglas Christmas sealed the ground floor of his Vancouver gallery with plastic and flooded it Tuesday with half a foot of cold water.

Color slides and movies were projected on the walls and bounced off the surface of the water while guests who paid $1 each jumped up and down splashed each other and kicked balloons around.

Christmas claimed the flooding created "total environment" suggesting Vancouver and its scenic marine surroundings.

Contract Talks Opening GM to Fight Wage Guarantee Pact

By BILL SIMMONS

DETROIT (AP) — Five days before contract talks open, General Motors has served notice that it will fight guaranteed annual income, the pet demand of United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

The largest U. S. automaker released Tuesday a 12-page booklet detailing some income guarantees already given to UAW-represented GM workers.

The action was a public indication of what GM executives have made plain in private, where, with newsmen, they have scoffed at Reuther's "scheme to pay people for not working."

"We can't guarantee anybody's income until somebody can guarantee us a market," one said. "If a guy can draw his

Firecrackers Set 2 Police Car Afire

CHICAGO (AP) — Two policemen drove their smoking squad car to a fire station Tuesday night after the front seat was set aflame by a firecracker.

Patrolmen James Ralph and Nick Mostozzi had gone to the rear of a building to investigate a report that fireworks were being set off.

They heard an explosion and rushed back to the front to find a fire in their car. After emergency action with a hand pump, the patrolmen headed for the nearest fire house, the seat and their tempers still smoldering.

Johnsons Revisit Lady Bird's Home

By FRANK CORMIER

KARNACK, Tex. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson took his bride-to-be, Lady Bird, away from this crossroads hamlet 32 years ago in an old coupe. He brought her back Tuesday in a jet-powered presidential helicopter.

The Johnsons spent about 1 1/2 hours touring sentimental landmarks in the area of Mrs. Johnson's hometown and visiting with old friends before returning to their LBJ Ranch near Johnson City. They may remain there through next weekend.

Earlier in the holiday the First Family witnessed the baptism of their first grandchild, Patrick Lyndon Nugent.

Mrs. Johnson asked the President to take her back to her home town since they planned to be in Texarkana, just 50 miles to the north, for the funeral of Mrs. Wright Patman, wife of the Texas Democrat who is chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

East Texas

The Chief Executive obliged with the helicopter trip to Karnack, near the Louisiana border in the piney woods country of East Texas.

Here the most prominent landmark is a dilapidated, two-story brick building—once a general store—that still bears the name, in fading red paint, of Lady of the United States she is Mrs. Johnson's father, who died true to her East Texas heritage of love of gardens, trees, unspoiled natural scenery and historic sites.

As if to emphasize this, Mrs. Johnson drove with the President to nearby Caddo Lake State Park, a depression-born project they would like to see developed further.

Welcomed Home

Mrs. Taylor welcomed Mrs. Johnson there.

The Johnsons did not enter the old Taylor general store but they strolled about a grassy flower-bordered triangle at the nearby crossroads Lady Bird got her first look at a new state historical marker commemorating her birth in Karnack, Dec. 22, 1912.

It reads in part "As First Lady of the United States she is true to her East Texas heritage of love of gardens, trees, unspoiled natural scenery and historic sites."

As if to emphasize this, Mrs. Johnson drove with the President to nearby Caddo Lake State Park, a depression-born project they would like to see developed further.

hilarious and touching view of the resilience of man's spirit.

Jaffee Griener, Eugene, Ore.,
as Estragon; Lawrence Kraus-

The air-conditioned class-room center is located at 4th Avenue

New National Opera Schedules Appearance In Madison Next Fall

MADISON (AP)—The newly formed American National Opera Company will give three performances at the University of Wisconsin's Union Theater in October, the school announced Tuesday.

The company will present Alban Berg's contemporary opera, "Lulu," in English, Oct. 12; Verdi's "Falstaff," in Italian, Oct. 13; and Puccini's "Tosca," in Italian, Oct. 14.

The company was formed last February after the Metropolitan Opera National Company was disbanded. It is receiving government support from the National Council on the Arts, as did the Met's national group.

Less Than a Dollar

These Dishes Serve Four

By Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

When the food budget begins to pinch, the homemaker has no choice but to adjust. The trick is to put meals on the table that still give the nutrition every family needs. The pennies can be counted in the food bill with a bit of attention to recipes and menus.

News out of Washington indicates that food prices are destined to climb higher instead of going down in the next few months. This means, of course, that economy meals will be very much in style.

Now comes some good news which is being passed on immediately to all homemakers with an eye to making ends meet. Home economists from a major firm that makes solid all-vegetable shortening have gone into a budget huddle in their test kitchen to find some answers to meal planning for the consumer-homemaker. With the help of a few other food processors such as the National Kraft Packers Association, the National Macaroni Institute and others, they've succeeded in collecting a set of budget recipes that make good eating anytime.

Each of the dishes featured today... there are more recipes than those pictured... makes four servings and can be prepared for less than a dollar. That brings the cost to about 25 cents per serving!

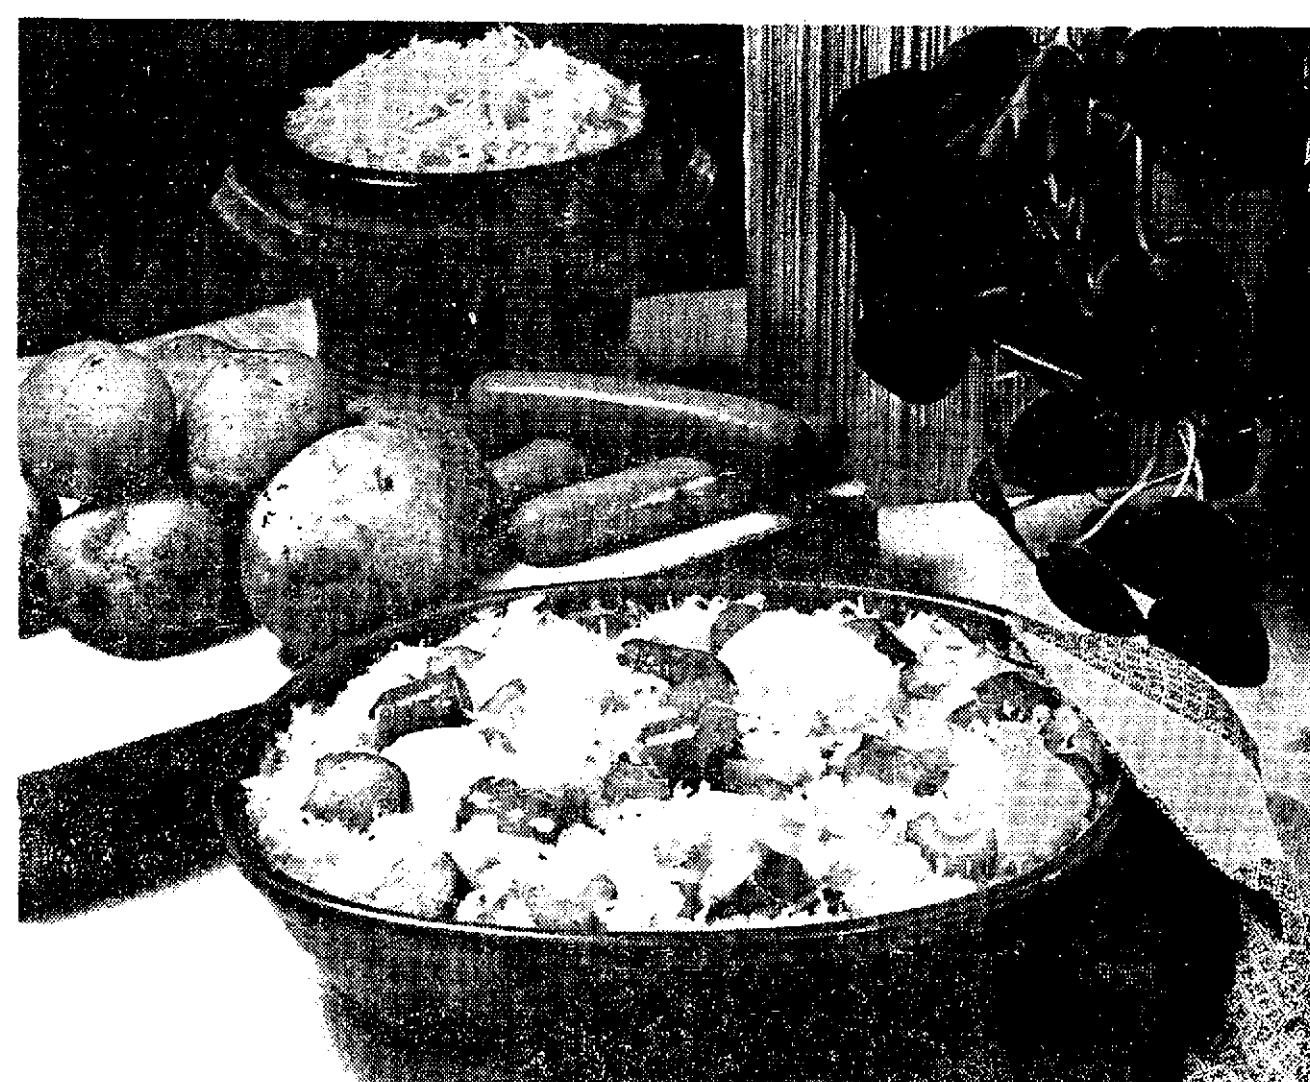

Meat balls browned in vegetable shortening, then simmered long and fragrantly in a sweet-sour sauce is one of the dishes. Just thinking about it conjures up the delicious aroma guaranteed to make everyone in the family hungry for a taste. The meat balls are served with rice.

Another meat ball recipe also features rice, only in this one the rice is seasoned with curry and raisins. A sprinkling of toasted coconut gives this dish a delicious crunchiness.

Eggs have been one of the best buys in the food market for weeks, so the Egg Foo Yung cooked pancake fashion is a welcome recipe. Another egg dish that's special is Piperade

Children Enjoy 'Cool' Fourth of July

A record low of 58 degrees marred many plans for family picnics and outings on the Fourth of July. Sweaters, jackets, and warmer clothing replaced the traditional shorts and swimsuits usually worn on the summertime holiday.

Throughout Appleton, however, unseasonal temperatures failed to snuff the spirit of the occasion as families decided to dine out in a supper club rather than the backyard. Others brought their picnics indoors.

A favorite attraction was the Civic Celebration at Pierce Park where children enjoyed the rides and games regardless of the chilly weather. Balloons and cotton candy lent a fun flavor to the event which began Friday evening and ended Tuesday. Between rides, children munched popcorn and drank bubbling soda.

A favorite of young boys and girls was a train that took small passengers on a ride throughout the park. The fascinating train came complete with a bell that announced its coming. An airplane ride lent an atmosphere of adventure for young jet-setters. A merry-go-round whirled laughing children through a holiday of old-fashioned fun and excitement.

For the youngsters and their parents it was a 'cool', enjoyable Fourth of July.

Admiring a Train which took children on rides through Pierce Park is Ronald Dvorak. The train had a bell which announced its coming as it chugged its young passengers around the park route.

Cotton Candy Remained a perennial favorite at the Civic Celebration held during the Fourth of July weekend. Sampling the fluffy sugar snack is Ellen Flynn of Green Bay.

The Airplane Ride brought gleeful laughter from Tammy Morgan shown at the Civic Celebration. The rides, games and refreshments were part of the holiday event which began Friday evening and concluded Tuesday evening.

'Super Cold' Method Retains Food Flavor

Because of a new freezing method, consumers are finding whole avocados, fresh tomato slices, green beans and some seafoods that weren't sold in the frozen food form before, says Charlotte Dunn, foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

In the new process commercial food producers use liquid nitrogen to get freezing temperatures of about 320 degrees below zero. This extremely cold temperature makes better frozen foods because freezing takes place instantly.

Older Method

The older method of freezing state—zero or a few degrees below—was much slower. As water freezing cannot be used at freezes, Miss Dunn explains, it home, according to Miss Dunn, expands and breaks down the cell structure of certain foods. Any food which contains a high percentage of water like tomatoes and watermelon will, if cial use.

Not Reporting Abuse Violation of Wisconsin Law

BY JEAN OTTO
Post-Crescent Women's Editor

"Our children are our greatest natural resource, for they are the raw material of our future society — its thinkers, its artists, its leaders, its artisans. Our job today is to concentrate our efforts on the detection, reporting, treatment and prevention of child abuse."

Wisconsin Attorney General Bronson LaFollette spoke the words at the recent Battered

Third of a Series

Child Workshop in Green Bay. Outlining the law regarding the reporting of suspected cases of child abuse, he noted a recent AMA Journal estimate that child abuse may be a more frequent cause of death than such recognized diseases as leukemia, cystic fibrosis and muscular dystrophy, and may well rank with automobile accidents.

Terrible Examples

The trauma suffered by the abused child has other far reaching significance. Dr. Gerald Porter, in noting that the battered child becomes the battering adult, said that John Dillinger was perhaps the most famous mistreated child in the U. S. "He was chained to his bed and beaten as a child." Also subjected to abuse as children were Charles Whitman, who killed 17 and wounded 30 from a college tower in Austin, Texas, and Perry Smith, delineated in Truman Capote's account of the murder of a family of four in Holcomb, Kan., in 1959, who was chained to his bed and beaten for bed-wetting as a child.

Protecting a child from abuse does more than save his life. It also directs him away from the self-destructing pent up hostility resulting from such abuse.

Today's attitude of not wanting to become 'involved' is as evident in cases of child abuse as any other facet of life. Neighbors are loathe to report what they think may be abuse or neglect. "It's their child," they reason, however appalled they may be by the circumstances. They do not wish to go to court, to make public statements, to face those they accuse. They wonder, "What if I'm wrong?" and they identify with those other parents, wondering how they'd feel if, when their own child is injured, someone were to accuse them.

Everyone appears to be torn by conflicting emotion when it involves reporting child abuse. Physicians are divided by their loyalty to their primary patients, the parents, and the privilege of confidentiality, and their need to make a judgment about the child's injury. Hospitals and their staffs are also loathe to accuse. Teachers, in perhaps the best situation of any to see early and not so serious cases, also do not want a confrontation.

So who is to care about and speak for the child?

Law Clear

Wisconsin law previous to the last session of the legislature provided an exception to the privilege of confidentiality between doctor and patient.

In situations where the examination of an abused or injured minor creates a reasonable ground for an opinion that the condition was intentionally caused or inflicted by another and the child is unable or unwilling to disclose the facts

Defects in the statute were that it required the physician to reach a conclusion about a person other than the child committed to his care, it was conditioned on the inability of the child to disclose the facts of the situation and the name of the person responsible, and the statute, calling for the report to be made to law enforcement authorities, was penal in purpose.

The doctor was, in effect, called upon to initiate the criminal process against the parents of his patient. The law provided no immunity, either criminal or civil, from later action. Neither did it provide protection or rehabilitation for the abused child.

Five bills to amend the law were introduced in the last legislature.

Who And How

Bill 199A, the second to be introduced, was given bi-partisan support and sponsorship. Carefully drafted, it included declaration of purpose, definitions, provisions establishing duty to report, content of the report, duty of the department after the report was made, immunity from liability and penalty for failure to make reports. It was passed, after being amended to strike the provision establishing immunity from civil liability.

In the Wisconsin Senate Bill 320S passed, extending the duty to report to nurses, social workers and school administrators, as well as doctors. It also established both civil and criminal immunity but when it reached the Assembly, the civil immunity clause was stricken by amendment.

Not Effective

Mr. LaFollette believes that the lack of civil immunity in reporting suspected child abuse is a major factor in many cases never reaching the attention of authorities. In other words the law is not effective in discovering those children who are being abused and who could benefit from reporting." Mr. LaFollette says that, although the law places a duty, subject to criminal prosecution, on doctors, nurses, social workers and school administrators to report instances of child abuse, many may be unaware of the duty now placed on them. Further, he says, local sheriffs and police may be unaware that under the new law they must investigate and report to local welfare departments all cases brought to their attention.

Immunity Essential

Mr. LaFollette says, "I believe that for a child abuse reporting law to be fully effective, it must include a grant of immunity from civil as well as criminal liability."

The new child abuse law is aimed at obtaining reports of abuse early, so that treatment of existing injuries may be obtained, and the prevention of further abuse attained. Civil immunity should be granted in those cases where the report is made in good faith and on reasonable grounds, so that parents are protected from malicious and unfounded reports intended to injure their reputations. Of 47 states with child abuse laws, only Wisconsin fails to provide immunity from civil liability.

Now before the legislature are bills which would add hospital administrators and dentists to the list of persons required to make reports and provide that reports be made to city police departments as well as sheriffs.

Discovering the abused child is only the first step in attacking the problem, the attorney general says. "We must bind up his physical and mental wounds, so that he be made whole and we must protect him while at the same time taking steps to preserve the family."

Krueger Family Plans Reunion

The Krueger family will hold its 31st reunion Sunday at Plamann Park. A potluck dinner and supper and games for children are planned.

Officers are Edwin Techlin, president; Lester Techlin, vice president; Dennis Dobberstein, New London, secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. Lester Techlin, historian.

Refreshment committee members are Gilbert Wendt, Herbert Schroeder, Mrs. Paul Kronke, Seymour, and Mrs. Englebert Nelson, Columbus. Mark Wendt, Paul Kronke and Robert Schinke will have charge of games.

Jig Is Up for Spring Chicken Who 'Practiced to Deceive'

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Sixteen years ago I began to date a very attractive man who was six years my junior. I told him years together. Last night he told me he must go to Europe on business and he wants me to go with him. This means I must produce my birth certificate in order to get a passport. My husband is sure to see my passport at some point during the trip and then he would discover I lied to him about my age.

Don't advise me to confess. He has a thing about women who are older than their husbands. I've cringed many times when he has made cutting remarks about such couples in our social group.

Please tell me how to handle this and keep my secret. Undoubtedly other women have written to you with this problem. What did you tell them? —

Older Than Springtime
Dear Springtime: I told them the same thing I'm going to tell you. Fess up and take your lumps. If your marriage is as wonderful as you say, the number on the passport won't mean a thing. Now you know what is meant by that "tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in your letter from the teen-age girl who admitted she had done some shoplifting. Your advice to her was good, but I don't think you said enough. Please print the enclosed, which I read in the April, 1967, issue of Reader's Digest:

Professional security experts offer this advice to parents in the fight against youthful shoplifting:

1. Talk to your children. Explain that shoplifting is a crime, and that a criminal record is a lifelong shadow.

2. Emphasize that going along with the crowd for fear of being "chicken" is the coward's way out.

3. When your children go on group shopping expeditions, know how much money your child has, where the group is going, what they expect to buy.

4. If your child comes home with more merchandise than he or she had money to buy, ask about it. And don't take easy answers about where it came from.

5. Be wary if a daughter goes shopping with an oversized purse. Purses are favorite "drops" for concealing pilfered goods.

6. Outlaw all clothes swapping unless the parents on both sides know what's being exchanged.

7. Practice what you preach. — Trying To Help

Dear Trying: The rules are all superb, but I would like to emphasize rule number one. Authorities in the field of shoplifting tell us they encounter dozens of children every day who do not relate stealing with immorality. Parents must teach children at an early age that taking things is not only wrong, but against the law. The swiping of insignificant objects from homes of neighbors and friends is often the first step. Every parent should be alert to this. Punishment should be swift and firm.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

UW Specialist Gives Tips on Buying Produce

The summer season brings displayed in their original containers. Experience is the best teacher in making wise selections from produce displays. There are no set rules or easy-to-learn instructions, says Mrs. Stare. However, there are some tips that may help:

- Tips to Follow
- Make your own selection so you can inspect and select the produce for its intended use.
 - It seldom pays to buy merely because the price is low. Unless the low price is because of oversupply, the "bargain" grades is found on shipping may not be a good buy.
 - Select fruits and vegetables that are in season in nearby producing areas. They may be lower in price, especially if there is a good supply.

—Don't buy more than you need unless you have adequate refrigeration and can use up the item without waste.

—Avoid selections that show excessive deterioration, unless they are to be used immediately. Such items may be inexpensive but you may waste a lot in preparation that offsets your economy.

—Remember that the largest is not always the best. They may not be suited for your intended use and may not be best in quality.

'Hands Off' Policy

—Try to distinguish between defects that affect appearance and those that affect eating quality. Many blemishes can be removed during preparation.

—Do not handle fruits and vegetables unnecessarily since this can cause spoilage and waste.

Take Lots Of Time in Crucial Play

Even if you are a careful player you can make most of your decisions in a few seconds. Perhaps once a year, especially if you happen to play in a world championship, you may find that even three or four minutes is not long enough to solve your problem.

When Henri Svarc opened the four of diamonds, Norman Kay rightly assumed that the lead would not be from the ace.

He played the jack from dummy and was able to ruff out East's ace. So far, so good.

Since the best chance was to find the king of hearts in the West hand, Kay led a low heart and tried a finesse with dummy's queen. Jean-Michel Boulenger, of the French team, won with the king of hearts and took several minutes to think about his return. It was a crucial position since both teams were trying to qualify for the finals in the world championship.

Poor Choice

There was no chance to beat the contract if South had five trumps. The only hope was that South had four trumps and five clubs and that South was missing either the jack of hearts or the jack of clubs. Any return South would have won and led

Mother Eases Child Fears Before Surgery

Children undergoing surgery may benefit if their mothers are permitted to be present when the youngsters are being anesthetized. This is one conclusion of a study by Dr. Jerome L. Schulman and David Allan of Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, Ill.

A group of 32 children between the ages of two and six were about to have their tonsils removed. Half the group were separated from their parents before anesthesia was begun. The other half were accompanied to the anesthesia induction room by their mothers who remained at their sides. The doctors found that the accompanied children seemed less upset by the procedure than the unaccompanied ones and had fewer difficulties in the post-operative period.

Although warned that sometimes youngsters fight being anesthetized and might have to be restrained and that they would have to leave in the event of an emergency, no mother turned down an opportunity to remain with her child. No mother upset either her child or the anesthetist.

Cross have done such an outstanding job and have become so important to schools using the program that attempts are underway to expand it for the coming school year.

Stanley Ore, principal of the Appleton High School-East, has requested the program for the new school, writing, in a formal request to the Board of Education. Our faculty and our students have come to respect the ability and judgment these interested citizens have demonstrated in their daily service. Words alone do not aptly express the respect and admiration we feel for these ladies.

"I would like to recommend that the Board of Education request the services of Red Cross School Health Volunteers at Appleton High School-East next year."

Once a week The program if carried out where requested, will require about 70 women volunteering their services to a school either one morning or afternoon a week. Volunteers are given Red Cross training before going on duty and are acquainted with their responsibilities and duties. In the absence of the school nurse they provide initial treatment to children who become ill or injured while at school and, when necessary, provide transportation home for the child.

Until now, says Mrs. Kay Kirchberg, executive secretary of the Outagamie County Red Cross, the attempt has been to recruit mothers of children attending schools they'd work in. However, many mothers who might be interested have younger children at home and feel they cannot leave home or are too busy. The answer, she says, is obvious. Ideally suited for the School Health Volunteer task are grandmothers, or women whose children have finished school. This age group composes the bulk of all volunteers in the community, and such women are very capable of the duties involved.

In Five Schools

During the 1966-67 school year there were 41 volunteers, who worked a total of just over 2,000 hours. Five schools requested the program and were served. They are Madison and Einstein Junior Highs, Huntley Appleton High School West and St. Joseph Catholic Schools. One other asked for the program but not enough volunteers could be found.

Mrs. Kirchberg says that she hopes to get a class of new volunteers trained in August so they'll be ready when school opens. She also comments that those who are working in the School Health program are so enthused about the volunteer work that they often inquire about other programs they can assist.

As 3,000 persons gathered at Long Beach recreational park, a young hippie gave one policeman a marigold.
 "I never had so many people say hello to me before—not just the hippies but everybody around," said Police Lt. Forest H. Smith.
 "I wouldn't mind if they came back again."

Ouster Report Of Liu Ignored By Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Nationalist quarters in Formosa attach no significance to a statement by the Chinese Communist Party's theoretical journal that Communist President Liu Shao-chi has been "exposed and overthrown."
 The general opinion is that there is no conclusive evidence that Liu has been ousted from his post or that he had been placed under arrest.

 "Mao Tse-tung's captive press has published another premature obituary for Liu Shao-chi," said the Independent, an English-language China newspaper in an editorial this week.
 "Direct, physical action against Liu," the newspaper said, "could quickly turn the series of partially isolated mainland clashes into a civil war involving not only Maoists and Liuists but also the decisive factor of anticommunism. Mao has not dared to move because his position is too weak."

Scattered Showers and Thunderstorms are forecast Wednesday in northern New England. Showers and scattered thunderstorms, some severe, are forecast for the south and central Rockies, the Plains states and the Gulf states. Occasional rain will fall along the north Pacific Coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Father Killed By Model Plane

NEW YORK (AP) — A Queens father, helping his son ready a gasoline-powered model plane for flight Sunday in Flushing Meadow Park, was killed when struck on the back of the head by another model plane which suddenly nose-dived.
 Police said Roger Colon, 43, of Elmhurst, and his son, Philip, 12, were in the special area set aside for flying model planes.
 Colon was kneeling in the grassy section outside the flying circle, trying to start the engine of his boy's plane, when he was felled, police said.

From News Record

Jack E. Williams has been appointed manager of classified and general (national) advertising of The Post-Crescent, it was announced today.

He succeeds George W. Browne, who is leaving The Post-Crescent to become advertising director of a new newspaper to be published in Oshkosh by Miles Kimball Co.

Williams has been advertising

Jack Williams

manager of the Twin City News-Record, Neenah-Menasha, since it was purchased in 1960 by Post Corp., which also publishes The Post-Crescent. Since 1964 he has also been business manager of the Twin City paper.

He began with The Post-Crescent's circulation department in Neenah-Menasha in 1952, becoming an advertising account representative in 1954. A native and lifelong resident of Menasha, he is a graduate of St. Mary High School and a Navy veteran of World War II. Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their five children live at 733 John St., Menasha.

Browne

In his new position Williams also will act as assistant advertising director, reporting to Sales Director Glenn H. Arthur.

Browne came to The Post-Crescent in 1959 as manager in charge of general (national) advertising. In 1962 he was named to a new position combining that of advertising director and sales director. Before coming to Appleton he served in advertising executive posts with the Lebanon (N.H.) Valley News and the Bangor (Me.) Daily News.

A Look at What Lies Ahead was given Monday to the Area Technical Vocational and Adult Education (VTE-12) Board at its organizational meeting. On a brief tour of the Menasha Vocational, Technical and Adult School, where the meeting was held, board members check the work of an offset printing de-

Undersheriff's Wage Hike Gets Committee Approval

State to Open Highway Bids

Two U.S. 41 Area
Projects Included in
45 New Contracts

Two major Fox Cities area improvements will be among 45 project bids scheduled to be opened Tuesday by the State Highway Commission in Madison.

Work includes a second cross-bridge of Lake Butte des Morts on U.S. 41 at Oshkosh and the interchange at W. College Ave. and U.S. 41 at Appleton.

The Appleton project will include grading, base coat and concrete surface and eight structures to develop the U.S. 41-State 125 interchange as a new approach to the city between U.S. 10 and the south county line.

The project will include two 113-foot bridges to carry U.S. 41 over County Trunk V (Spencer Road) a pair of 159-foot bridges to carry traffic over State 125, a 70-foot addition of W. Wisconsin Avenue and N. Richmond Street by Appleton and one 116-foot extension of U.S. 41 at Appleton. The project also includes a 400-foot culvert.

Long Controversy on Salary For Calvin Spice Is Ended

The long-term controversy over salary for undersheriff Calvin Spice neared an end today.

The Outagamie County Board executive committee recommended passage of a resolution that would take the undersheriff from the civil service and salary ordinance schedules and place him under contract to the county.

The resolution calls for a contract effective from the date of signature on an annual salary of $7,600. The resolution also stipulates that the salary of any subsequent undersheriff appointed be set by the board's executive committee.

Recommend Passage

Controversy began when

Spice, a 20-year veteran of law enforcement service and former sheriff, was placed at the lowest three-span unit of about 220 pay scale on Grade 19. A

Butte des Morts crossing will have a 32-foot vertical clearance. The long-awaited bridge will complete the four-lane highway between Green Bay and Milwaukee.

He also was ordered to pay court costs.

Night Board Session Reset By Outagamie

The executive committee of the Outagamie County Board this morning postponed the scheduled July 11 night meeting of the full board to 7 p.m. July 18.

In other action concerning law enforcement, the committee heard a report of the personnel committee regarding salary and the duties of the proposed process July 11 date with the opening of server. Further action on the new position was referred to the courts, justice and enforcement committee.

Fiscal Math Results in 24 Men, 1,875 Votes

Curiosity killed the cat at the last meeting of the Appleton city council when 1,875 votes were eligible to be cast on a school site matter.

It was natural then that those attending the meeting, and others hearing and reading about it, questioned how so many votes could come out of 20 aldermen and four town chairmen.

And with school sites likely to be before the city's legislators again tonight, an explanation seems in order.

Vocational District Picks First Chairman

Winnebago Man Leads 7-Man Board

MENASHA — The new Vocational, Technical and Adult Education area board (VTE-12) Monday night elected Russ Johnson, two year at-large board member representing the Winnebago County area, chairman at the first official meeting of the seven-man board at Menasha Vocational and Adult School.

Vice chairman of VTE-12 board is Harland Kirchner, four-year employer member, from Clintonville, Waupaca County.

Secretary is Darwin Smith, six-year employer member, Calumet County.

Frank Sprister, four-year employer member, Outagamie County, Appleton, becomes the district's first treasurer.

Area board officers are elected for a term of one year or until a successor has been selected by members of the board.

From New London

H. J. Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, New London, was accepted as the seventh member of VTE-12 board and will serve a term of two years with full voting powers and responsibility for board function and duties.

The organization of the board, took 11 minutes in contrast to the painstaking 3 1/2 years it has taken to bring about the formation of District 12.

Other action taken by the board Monday gave it a meeting place, a bank, a deputy treasurer to handle the payroll of the six existing schools, money to carry on the programs within the four-county district and full responsibility for the present programs and planning of future technical and vocational programs.

Ronald Kautz, business manager for the Appleton Technical, Vocational and Adult School, was chosen deputy treasurer. He will handle the payroll for all employees of the six vocational schools in the district, including insurance, Social Security and retirement payments, and be responsible for the current payments of obligations from an estimated $400,000 in budget balances from the schools. The new board treasurer is responsible for all funds.

Select Bank

Valley Bancorporation's Appleton State Bank is the official depository for VTE-12. Bonding for the treasurer and deputy treasurer was authorized by the new board.

The official address of the board is Appleton Vocational, Technical and Adult School. The data processing department of this school also will handle the payroll chore.

By resolution the new board accepted the transfer of liquid assets and liabilities from the six existing schools and de-

Paul John Van Den Bosch, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Den Bosch, route 1, Kaukauna, was killed Monday night when he was struck by a car on State 55, about a quarter mile north of Freedom. The death was Outagamie County's 13th traffic fatality of the year. (Story on Page A-1)

County Denies Payment of DA's Expenses

Executive Committee
Rules Schaefer
Had No Approval

A request by Dist. Atty. Nick Schaefer for county payment of expenses incurred by his attendance at a committee meeting to plan for the convention of the Wisconsin District Attorney's Association convention was rejected this morning by the Outagamie County Board's executive committee in a unanimous vote.

After some discussion, the committee rejected the request on the grounds that Schaefer had not requested permission or notified the executive committee of his intentions to attend the meeting.

$20 Bill

The bill presented by Schaefer amounted to $20 and had not been approved by the courts, justice and enforcement committee.

The executive committee granted payment of Schaefer's and Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard Hamilton's expenses at the district attorney's conference at Eagle River.

The request had been approved by the courts committee.

Memoranda

Supv. Joseph DeBruin moved that the committee send memoranda to all department heads requesting two weeks notice of expected expenses (such as various association meetings) or the executive committee would reserve the right to turn down requests for payments.

The motion was adopted by unanimous vote.

Sleeping Driver Slams Utility Pole At Little Chute

A utility pole was broken off and an estimated $300 damage done to the front end of a car driven by Richard S. Spierings, 18, route 1, Kaukauna, when he reportedly fell asleep at the wheel about 7 a.m. today.

Spierings told Outagamie County sheriff's authorities that he was driving home from work when he apparently dozed off going east on State 96 about a mile west of Little Chute.

The youth said he tried to avoid hitting the pole after the car jumped the curb.

Spierings suffered a cut nose in the mishap. Damage to the pole was estimated at about $200.

Firemen Put Out Oil Burner Fire

Appleton firemen were called about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday when Mrs. Ruth Babino, 1712 W. Rogers St., reported a house full of smoke.

Firemen found the motor and the front part of an oil burner burning. They put out the fire with a carbon dioxide hand extinguisher and used a smoke ejector.

Firemen told Mrs. Babino to have a serviceman check the burner before using it again.

Tossed Firecracker Causes Injuries

An Appleton woman and her daughter suffered minor injuries about midnight Tuesday when a firecracker exploded during the Fourth of July celebration at Pierce Park.

Police said witnesses indicated they did not see who threw the firecracker which apparently struck the woman and her daughter.

Police Nab Runaway Youth at Pierce Park

A 15-year-old boy who ran away from the St. Joseph Home for Children, Green Bay, spent the night in the juvenile detention section of Outagamie County jail, awaiting release to Waupaca County authorities possibly today.

The boy was picked up by Appleton police about 10 p.m. Tuesday at Fourth of July festivities at Pierce Park.

Appleton Apostolate officials said a hearing would be held in the case.

Minnesota Man Jailed 24 Days on Intoxication

LaVerne Henry Culver, St. Paul, Minn., was sentenced to 24 days in Outagamie County jail this morning on a charge of public intoxication.

Culver was unable to pay a fine of $50 and costs when he appeared before Judge Gustave J. Keller.

The Minnesota man was stopped by Appleton police about 3:30 p.m. Monday in the 400 block of W. Wisconsin Avenue.

Hoover, Mielke Sites Still in Question

Council Could Decide School Controversy

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If the board of education and city council desire tonight to compromise on the proposed new southside grade school site, the Hoover Park property could be made available.

The council, which at its last meeting refused to approve purchase of the Mielke property for an estimated $38,000 to $39,000, convenes at 7:30 p.m.

Aldermen may be in a position to bring a proposal to the floor of the council which had been turned down at an unusual meeting of the park-recreation commission last Friday.

City Atty. David Geenen has given Mayor George Buckley and other city officials a verbal opinion that the council does not need the approval of the commission to make the 11.6-acre Hoover Park site available for consideration by the school board.

Suggested Hoover Park

The city council's land acquisition committee, pointing recently to the fact that there has been argument over obtaining the Mielke property for close to three years, suggested Hoover Park be used for the new school. In turn, 22 acres of city-owned Roeland property a few blocks away would be given to the commission to develop a larger park-recreation area.

Within the 9th Ward the site matter has become a controversial one, with about the same number of residents petitioning for the Mielke property as the Hoover site.

Residents immediately next to Hoover Park object to having a school there.

After checking the record, the city attorney also said the park-recreation meeting of last week had been properly called, the chairman, called the special subject matter specified and it meeting but opposed the Hoover site. He would have been legally proper Park-Roeland property trade for the commission to take and then ruled the session was action on whether or not to illegal. A vote was never taken, make the Hoover property available.

Arthur Jones, commission member, advised Jones the meeting was not legally constituted.

Smith also took the position, the commission has full jurisdiction over all park and recreation lands, acting as trustees.

Geenen disagrees, contending the city council can override the property, while in recent months city officials proposed a compromise, using Hoover Park as the school site and developing city-owned Roeland property into park-recreation area. All are in close proximity.

The Mielke property is part of an unplatted 44-acre tract in a trust, including the 12 acres the school board wants.

Because it was annexed into the city as acreage and not platted, no Mielke property has

In an Attempt to Avoid Collision with another auto, a car driven by Merlin L. Mantei, 508 Susan St., Kimberly, met with another fate. The accident occurred at 1:15 p.m. Saturday on County Trunk N south of Darboy when Mantei took to the shoulder, lost control of his car and crashed into a silo at the Ed Mader farm, route 1, Menasha. Crews Dump Fill to Build Second U.S. 41 Causeway

OSHKOSH — Crews started causeway construction by Aug. 15, a spokesman for the Beaver Dam firm said today.

The "truck and shovel" operation will move about 8,000 tons of fill each day, from both ends of the bridge, and will occupy about 25 trucks from the C. C. Linck Co., Beaver Dam, and Courtney and Plummer Co., Neenah.

The Beaver Dam firm received the fill contract with a low bid of $689,299 but it sublet the northern end of the project to Courtney and Plummer.

The Linck Co. will draw most of its fill for the southern side from the Bulcan Material Quarry, about three miles south of the lake on U.S. 41 while Courtney and Plummer has begun stripping material from the Grundy Quarry on Sunnyview Road, about one-half mile west of County Trunk T.

The two companies will complete the first stage of the

Rites Held for Labor Mediator

Funeral services were held in Green Bay today for Joseph L. Conley, 53, a federal mediator well known in the Fox Cities region for handling of labor-management disputes.

Conley, a Fordham Law School graduate and a corporate lawyer before joining federal service 10 years ago, suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday while returning by boat from a Catholic retreat on Chambers Island.

He is survived by his wife, Mary, and eight children.

Conley, who figured in the settlement of several major strikes in this part of the state over the past decade, had been head of the Green Bay district office of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service since 1958.

An injunction to stop the causeway construction was dropped in the State Supreme Court after a month of disagreement.

The start of construction today puts an end to the battle waged by nearby property owners in recent months to put the second bridge on piers instead of using the causeway style.

Lakeside residents objected to the solid fill construction since they felt the original bridge had caused increased siltation and the backup of stagnant water.

The market's advance was helped by normal seasonal business, analysts said, including the overwhelming tendency of the market to advance in July and August for the past 66 years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1 1/2 at 325.0 with industrials up 2.8, rails up 1.3 and utilities up 4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6 1/2 at 300.45.

Business Paper Production to be Centered at Plant

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corporation today announced a $16.5 million expansion at its Moraine mill at West Carrollton, Ohio, which will make the plant one of the country's largest single producers of business papers.

Construction is expected to be completed in the fall of 1968.

The new machine will have a capacity of 48,750 tons per year and will increase the mill's annual capacity to 136,000 tons.

Fieweger said the mill now ships some 3,500 different business paper products for general office use as well as uncoated year and indicated that the offset papers for commercial printers.

"The new machine is a direct result of increased demand for Kimberly-Clark sulphate papers, and is indicative of the fast growth of the business communications paper market as a whole," Fieweger said. He said the additional capacity will put Kimberly-Clark in a strong position to meet these new business paper needs.

Cut in Dairy Imports Late, Steiger Says

FOND DU LAC — Congressman William A. Steiger said here today that the action taken by the administration to cut back dairy imports was "late" but said it would help to alleviate the problems "facing our dairy farmers."

The President took steps last Friday to cut back the amount of dairy imports to 1 billion pounds of milk equivalent. It was estimated that imports would run as high as 4 billion pounds during this calendar year.

Steiger authored a letter earlier this year in an attempt to get the President to release to Congress a 1966 Tariff Commission report. That letter was signed by 47 other members of the House including minority leader Gerald R. Ford (Mich.) and the ranking minority member of the House Agriculture Committee, Page Belcher (Okla.).

Steiger pointed out that over 1 billion pounds of milk equivalent have already been imported this year and indicated that the President's failure to act was challenged by interested Republicans who "brought sufficient pressure to bear, and if that had not happened we would still have no action at all."

He said the action was "late" but said it would help to alleviate the problems "facing our dairy farmers."

Fiscal Math Results in 1,875 Votes

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 deals with finances and real estate when it comes to the operation of the public school system.

Simple Majority Needed If the proposed site to be purchased is a budgeted item it only requires a majority of 938 votes for passage. At the last council meeting advocates of acquiring the Mielke property could not muster a majority. With six voting members absent, the count was only 52 votes short of passage. Should any proposed purchase not be previously budgeted, in part or whole, then it requires a three-fourths majority, or 1,407 votes for passage.

On other matters there are times when a two-thirds majority vote is necessary, or a total of 1,250. On the Mielke property vote, which rejected the school's board's recommendation and paved the way for consideration of Hoover Park, there were 16 aldermen voting. They were split with 656 votes for approval and 656 against.

Council May End School Site Dispute

Immediate platting by the Mielke trust would result in its having to pay its share of special assessments which could run between $13,000 and $16,000. However, if the Mielke trust would desire to only grant an easement for the necessary city facilities needed to reach the school site, platting would not be necessary and the city could not immediately collect special assessments.

About 2,000 feet of utilities and streets would have to be constructed around the Mielke site, while the Hoover Park land which is bounded by three municipal streets would require 600 feet of public streets and utilities. The estimates come from the department of public works and planners.

The agenda tonight also calls for final action on the annexation of 140 acres of land south of the city in the same area, extending Appleton into the Town of Harrison and Town of Menasha.

An award of interest to young stamp collectors, it is a new Cappy Dick show-and-tell packet containing five dramatic stamps from San Marino, the tiny country near the Adriatic sea. Each stamp bears a picture of a fish, including an octopus and a dolphin leaping into the air. These are mini stamps, meaning they have never been used, which adds to their interest as specimens.

Sharing Road Tax Funds

A substantial portion of the big state highway fund is distributed to the local government road systems of Wisconsin—county, town, city and village—for construction, maintenance and other service requirements. The controlling factor in such distribution is the number of miles of road within the jurisdiction of the local government.

For many years it has appeared to knowledgeable critics of public affairs that such an eligibility rule, whatever may have justified it many years ago when thousands of miles of road were being built for the first time, is probably irrelevant to the circumstances of today and may, indeed, be a wasteful method of disbursing the relatively high highway user taxes levied by the state. At the very least, the traffic density of particular road systems should be a factor in such sharing, it has been asserted time and again, most recently by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Now comes the Wisconsin Public Expenditure Survey with a bill presented in the legislature that would abolish the mileage system of sharing such highway aids altogether, and base the formula wholly on the volume of traffic. We hope the legislature ponders the issue carefully, although we have no illusions about the willingness of the town and county lobby to surrender their advantages under the present arrangements.

The naked eye will show some strange incongruities in the comparative quality of road repair and adequacy in representative travel around the state.

We have seen lightly used town and county roads in better condition than some of the more important and heavily used connecting routes on the state trunk highway system. In a state which has such an intensive livestock agricultural enterprise as Wisconsin, and especially its dairying component, we must maintain a minimum component of reliable rural road service. Yet there is a chance, in our view, that we have over-built some of the rural roads, and neglected the major arteries in too many instances as a consequence of the road distribution budget that has not been modified basically in many decades. The Expenditure Survey makes such an assertion, in its new bill, without any equivocation or qualification.

The critical need for new bridges in many of the cities of Wisconsin, serving as connections on the state highway system, illustrates the problem in another way. The state cannot now provide such bridges. There is no provision in the highway department budget for them. But with a more realistic apportionment of the highway maintenance and construction money now going to little used roads, that money could be had.

The legislature for a decade and a half has had an interim committee on highway problems that should have reviewed these matters. It has obviously avoided them because of the political difficulties inherent in the subject. Thus it is a natural topic for the review of the new state commission created to study the apportionment of state taxes in general, and we hope Chairman Curtis Tarr puts it on his agenda for early deliberation.

Referendum on Vietnam War?

There have been suggestions that Wisconsin, among other states, get on the November 1968 ballot a referendum concerning the war in Vietnam. In general it seems to be those opposed to the war who want the referendum on the grounds that the results would show widespread dissatisfaction and so put pressure upon Washington to get out.

Of course foreign policy is constitutionally the business of the Executive department except that Congress must appropriate funds for foreign affairs, declare war and the Senate must ratify treaties. It may seem unfair but clearly there cannot be referendums on every move made by government and a lot of local ones are often the effort of elected officials to avoid their own responsibility in touchy matters.

The outcome of referendums also depends in large measure upon how they are worded. One area of the United States did have such a referendum on the war in Vietnam and the results were quite different from those shown in various public opinion polls.

The question before the voters in Dearborn, Mich., was "are you in favor of an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of United States troops from Vietnam so Vietnamese people can settle their own problems?" Forty-one per cent of the voters answered yes, in contrast to a recent poll which showed that only 20 per cent of the American people favored even a gradual withdrawal.

But the Dearborn vote was broken down into areas, and also studied according to status of the voters determined by the part of Dearborn in which they lived.

Dearborn has some 112,000 residents, almost all are white and quite a few are junior executives with the median income well above the national level. Among these voters of relatively high status, the vote was three to two against withdrawal. In a subsequent study of reasons, researchers found that the upper middle class voter looked at the war generally in an ideological way with the concern about global strategy, the long drawn out struggle between communism and capitalism and abstract ideas of communism, patriotism, isolationism and pacifism.

But one small area of Dearborn is populated by workers, rather than executives. This was the only area where immediate withdrawal was favored by the majority of the voters and their reasons were generally personal. Certainly there is a sign here that those who must fight this war are not chosen completely equally.

President Johnson, speaking to the Democrats in Los Angeles between his two conferences with Premier Kosygin, once more charged that those opposed to the war were "fainthearted and weakkneed" who should be forgiven however because "they know not what they do." But the Dearborn vote indicates that those who are most opposed are those who expect that their own sons may have to do the fighting.

A referendum could not and should not determine the foreign policy of the United States. But it might give a lot of leaders something to think about.

And Now, Execution of Civilians

A Viet Cong broadcast has indicated that Gustav Hertz, chief of the public administrative division of the Agency for International Development in Saigon, was executed in retaliation for alleged South Vietnamese executions of captured Viet Cong terrorists. The threat of more such executions is blackmail.

And yet the rules of war in Vietnam are so confused that it is tough to decide who started the execution business or who should be the most condemned.

The Geneva agreement on the treatment of war prisoners emphasizes their good care and no executions or torture. Such rules were ignored by many Japanese commanders during World War II and by Nazi leaders. The unwritten rule that a national of another country caught behind enemy lines out of uniform is assumed to be a spy can not be used in Vietnam where there are no lines. The Viet Cong terrorists are a serious threat to all efforts by American and South Vietnamese forces to make political as well as military headway. But are they any less soldiers of war than the American pilots shot down over Vietnam? And Mr. Hertz was a civilian. The Viet Cong lay as much claim to Saigon as does the current South Vietnamese government.

North Vietnam made threats months ago of trying captured American pilots as war criminals. The matter was not pressed but the International Red Cross has been turned down on all requests to visit American prisoners to check on their treatment. Recently released pictures indicate that the brainwashing, common in North Korean treatment of prisoners, is being used by the North Vietnamese. Certainly this is contrary to all civilized standards of the treatment of prisoners. But a lot of Americans have been shocked by the beating and other mistreatment of prisoners by the South Vietnamese.

It is a dirty war only not so little any more. The United States is unable to control the rules but we probably could do a better job at controlling our allies, the South Vietnamese. And yet, perhaps they know far better than we do, how to handle other Vietnamese, including captured terrorists. The retaliation by the enemy is noteworthy in that it strikes at Americans and not captured South Vietnamese whose government would merely expect such retaliation.

Looking Backward

Fourth of July Quiet in Appleton

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for July 6, 1867.

The Fourth here passed off pleasantly and quietly. The terrible storm of the day and the night previous prevent a large crowd from being present, still quite a concourse of people were in town, and they appeared to enjoy themselves.

The Methodist Sunday School paraded the streets in embowered wagons and enjoyed a picnic on the green near the church.

Parties had arranged for other out-of-town picnics, but the bad roads kept them at home. Some went off to Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Green Bay and elsewhere, crowding the cars to repletion.

The general feature of the day here was the celebration under the management of the Appleton Liederkantz Society, which took place principally in Pierce's beautiful park in the Third Ward.

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, July 1, 1942.

The armored forces of "desert fighter" German Marshal

Erwin Rommel were reported to be 70 miles from the Nile Delta that day. The steady and swift advance of the Germans brought a definite threat to Alexandria. It was believed that the climax of the impending battle would settle the fate of the entire Middle East.

Mrs. Gordon Gill, the former Mary Kay Steinberg of Appleton, was one of the 22 pianists accepted for the first women's piano symphony in the world. The musical group was organized in Chicago and was preparing a concert at Orchestra Hall there for November.

They Are Saying in London —

Middle East War Has Shattered Illusions About the Right and Left

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

In London's prestigious Spectator, Professor Tibor Szamuely, of Reading University, writes provocatively his views of the Left reaction to the Mideast crisis in England. Professor Szamuely's reading of reactions there suggests a division between the American and the English, which is of enormous interest, particularly as has historically been the case, the English left tends to lead the way. In any case, Mrs. Szamuely's account is worth excerpting.

"International crises, like hangings, are useful in one respect: they help to concentrate the mind wonderfully. Perhaps this crisis will help us take a new, realistic view of the world as it actually is. Several hallowed concepts call for drastic re-thinking: first, and foremost that of the political 'Left' and of the part played within it by the Jews.

"Until now it has been almost axiomatic that the place of politically-minded Jews, including Zionists, was somewhere on the left of the broad political spectrum. There were weighty historical reasons for this, ever since the French Revolution it was the European left, by and large, that espoused the cause of Jewish emancipation, while anti-Semitism usually found a place on the right. Naturally enough, the Jews were in the forefront of every liberal, progressive, left-wing movement. However, since 1917, the year

ed to realize this some time ago. But not every 'progressive,' pro-Communist, pro-Third World dictatorship, pro-Viet Cong, anti-American, anti-western movement and manifestation has prominently featured large numbers of Jews, in some cases actual Jewish majorities. It would have been funny, were it not tragic, to view their consternation in the past fortnight, upon discovering that trusted left-wing colleagues and staunch co-signatories regard Israel and its supporters as just another lot of reactionaries.

"Even more painful has been the rallying of progressive Afro-Asian, including such beloved figures as President Nasser and Mrs. Gandhi, to the Arabs. Yet from their point of view the anti-Israel 'progressives' are being consistent and basically correct: after all, for the Afro-Asian, the Israelis are much the same as the Rhodesian white settlers.

No Longer Leftist

"Today it is quite clear that the cause of Israel has long become a right-wing, or at any rate a non-leftist cause. Witness the press: the conservative papers have taken an undeviating pro-Israel line, while the left-wing press (with the exception of the New Statesman) oscillate between equivocation and out-and-out support for Nasser. Or the politicians: the only prominent non-Jewish leftist politician who strongly supports Israel is Mr. Jeremy Thorpe.

"Many more illusions will doubtless be shed before the present Arab-Israeli war comes to an end. What that end will be, nobody can forecast at this stage. Only one thing is certain—if Jerusalem is allowed to fall again, if the cry, 'Hierosolyma est perdita' (Jerusalem has fallen!) rings out once more in the world, the effect of this catastrophe would be felt by a great many more nations than just the Jews."

Total Personal Income In Wisconsin Shows State Is Prospering

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The "We Like It Here" slogan pushed by the present state administration is probably one of the better publicity devices of its kind. Its purpose, is crass political terms, is to popularize the idea that the Wisconsin political and economic and social climate has somehow improved under the Knowles dispensation. This will be a difficult thesis to defend before a jury considering the record abstractly and dispassionately.

Aside from such political purposes, however, it is worth noting that a carefully documented statistical study of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee economics staff with the collaboration of the statisticians of the State Department of Taxation does, indeed, suggest that Wisconsin is progressing very nicely in an economic way.

The study embraces the year from 1964 to 1965, which, of course, means that the materials are no longer current. Yet in the nature of statistical studies, that is about as punctually as such a survey could have been made. In any event, there is no evident reason to suppose that the trends disclosed have been reversed during the last year.

THE GAINS MEANINGFUL

For purposes of simplicity, this account will avoid the gross income figures reported. What is meaningful is the percentage of gain, and the comparative status of Wisconsin in the nation.

Total personal income in the state rose 8.6 per cent in 1965 over the previous year. That compared with a 7.9 per cent increase for the entire country, and it meant that Wisconsin's share of the total national income rose slightly. The increase was sufficient to take the state's rank from 14th to 12th among all states in terms of personal income, which is a development in which the people of the state probably have a right to take some pride. In fact, this reporter is tempted to disabuse the fact to some friends in New York and Washington, who persist in regarding this state as populated exclusively by distressed farmers and wood choppers.

In per capita personal income the story is similar. The gain in 1965 was 7.5 per cent, against a national rate of increase of 6.5 per cent. The state per capita income figure is now virtually equal to that for the country as a whole, at 99.2 per cent of the U.S. average of $2,746, based on the 1965 statistics.

STATE IS INDUSTRIALIZED

The study showed that Wisconsin has a comparatively high ratio of agriculture income representing the operations of farm proprietors, considering its population and geographical size. But the more significant showing is that wage and salary payments made up about two-thirds of the total personal income of the people of the state, which is just a shade below that of the United States as a whole. Moreover, manufacturing wages accounted for more than 28 per cent of the total in Wisconsin, against less than 22 per cent in the country.

That Wisconsin is rapidly becoming one of the major industrial states and that its industrial development is proportionately greater than that of the country is one of the least understood facts in Wisconsin public life — although one of the most important.

The statistical study notes in passing that five of the principal counties of the state now account for more than half of the state's total money income. Doubtless a list of 10 or 12 would show a concentration of two-thirds or three-quarters of the total earnings in the state.

POINT NEEDS EMPHASIS

Here is another way of emphasizing a point that should not need emphasis, but obviously does in relation to the psychology of Wisconsin politicians typically produced by elections, including those put into legislative offices, state and national.

There is every reason to believe, on the basis of what has happened in recent years, that the concentration of population and economic enterprise in the urban districts will continue, if it is not in fact accelerated. Adjustments in governmental policy and political life are bound to follow, although there is sometimes little to show that the principal public affairs leaders are ready to accept the probability of quite believe the cold

Red China Revelations Big Thing in Books

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Ordinarily, I am not an eaves-dropper; there is too much danger of being caught red-tailed. But the other night I was standing behind a couple of New York book publishers at a party, and paused to listen to their iridescent talk.

Harris

"How's your fall list of books?" asked the first publisher, whom we shall call Little. "Just dandy," answered the second, whom we shall call Brown. "We're in good shape. Nineteen new books on the Chinese!"

"Only 19?" murmured Little. "We have 23 ourselves. And each one an inside story, a real behind-the-bamboo curtain expose."

"You don't say?" retorted Brown. "Well, you'll find it hard to beat 'Up the Alimentary Canal with Mao,' written by the man who was his personal physician for eight years. It's a shocker!"

"We can match that," Little smiled smugly. "Take, for instance, our 'Striped Pants in Peking,' a revealing study of international intrigue, written by the third assistant gardener to the commercial attache of Iceland in Manchuria.

"Humph," humphed Little. "We can match that with our 'Maid in Mukden,' written by Alexander Lurid, the Broadway night club columnist who spent a weekend in Hong Kong last spring, getting in behind-the-scenes material on how Chinese women have been socialized. It'll be the biggest thing since Dr. Fu Manchu."

"Of course, if you care for that sort of book," sniffed Brown. "We happen to prefer the more scholarly approach — for instance, our new book by Prof. Erasmus Schlepper of the economics department of the Dropsy College for Retarded Athletes, called 'The Relationship of Surplus Value to Real Wages in Red China from 1954 to 1967.' It definitely proves that communism in China must collapse in the next 500 years."

"Then, too," Little interrupted, "we've got 'Must We Fight China?' by Strenor Turgid, the TV commentator, which ought to go over big. It's a real Chinese expert — even removes the olive from his Martini with chopsticks."

"What does he say?" asked Brown. "Does he think that we have to fight Red China eventually?"

"Well, he salys yes," answered Little, "and then again maybe no. You might say it's a balanced sort of book — it lets the reader draw whatever conclusions he wants to. After all, just between us, who knows what's going on?"

teen-aged gang leaders, local radicals, Daley happens to be a pragmatic politician who seldom swims upstream. Realizing that his police had been unable to disarm and splinter the gangs, and fearing a bloody summer, he was willing to give the liberals a chance at doing business with the gangs.

But this scarcely heralds an touch with the slum Negro. If era of sweetness and light in the any real authority is wielded there, it is by the gang leaders, police raid on the Woodlawn

Moreover, the urban Negro Organization the very day after riot — as in Buffalo, N.Y., the grant was announced recently — follows a depressing, scarcely coincidental. It shows a familiar pattern. Invariably the way police in Chicago and set off by an arrest and elsewhere, feel about trafficking accusations of police brutality, with the enemy.

Public With Police
Moreover, the police have the public, nationally, on their side in this undeclared racial civil war as never before. Officials in Washington feel police officers will be inclined to try to reason with Negro hoodlums than last summer.

There is considerable justification for this police belligerency. The Negro slums of America today comprise a secret arsenal of firearms, zip-guns, and knives ready for use at a moment's notice. Besides, police officers who practice diplomacy in making an arrest in the Negro slums often are just as apt to trigger a riot as their heavy-handed brethren.

In fact, those who know the Negro slums best are pessimistic about this summer, admitting they have no quick-cure answers. They are sure only that the sole force of discipline in those slums are the anonymous gang leaders. Thus, the split of the white establishment over how to deal with these gangs, as seen in Chicago, is still further cause for pessimism.

Although anathema to Negro

Destroy or Deal
That raises the question of whether to try destroying the gangs or try dealing with them. In connection with the proposed Federal grant to the Woodlawn organization, this question was debated bitterly behind the scenes for months.

Highly-respected police superintendent Orlando Wilson (who has just retired) led the anti-gang faction in opposing the grant. He was joined by local poverty program officials, who view the Woodlawn Organization as far too radical.

If Mayor Richard J. Daley had agreed with them, the grant officers were called off, and the incident was hushed up. But, to the contrasts were clear. While prize of many, Daley flashed Uncle Sam was willing to spend the green light.

Incident Hushed
A Woodlawn official put in a quick call to police headquarters downtown, the local police officers were called off, and the incident was hushed up. But, to the contrasts were clear. While prize of many, Daley flashed Uncle Sam was willing to spend the green light.

Manny the Torch Lives By Insurance Fraud

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Manny the Torch liked to play with roar of flames, the screaming of fire engines gave him pleasure.

Manny's a big boy now. But he still gets his kicks playing with matches. And now he gets paid for it.

Manny's a professional torch — a criminal who sets fires on order. He'll drop burning matches in a building for a cut of the insurance money from the owner.

Manny's an imaginary figure, but he's a composite of the torch criminal whose arsonous activities cost the nation's insurance companies millions of dollars a year.

No Good Criminal

A torch is "the general, no-good criminal who will do anything for a buck," says Brendan F. Battle, manager of the Fraud and Arson Bureau of the American Insurance Association.

Last year Battle's staff of about 100 agents investigated 3,705 fires throughout the country that had been reported as being suspicious. Of these, 702 were fires set to collect the insurance money, he said.

"The total amount of insurance at risk on these probable fraud fire losses was $33,522,500," said Battle. "In 100 of these cases, arrests were made which represented $3,989,000 in insurance coverages."

Tough Problem

A lot of money. A lot of fires. And Battle isn't optimistic the problem will disappear quickly. "Let's face it," he said,

"there's no law against carrying a match."

"The depression of the 1930s was the worst time for fraudulent fire - setting," Battle said. "But then times got better, there was a war and the problem sort of died down."

Torchings for cash were infrequent enough so that the Fraud and Arson Bureau kept no statistics on the problem. But it started compiling them in 1959.

As Battle puts it: "This criminal activity has continued to grow until today it is one of the serious problems which must be met by the insurance industry." at night, however, and the eye-witness was an 83-year-old woman. Defense efforts to discredit her testimony on the ground of failing sight were successful.

Easily Done

Insurance men say arson is easy to commit but difficult to detect.

Just how difficult may be seen in what happened to, what Battle called "one of the best cases we ever had."

The case was lost in court, he said, despite the testimony of any eyewitness who saw the arsonist sloshing gasoline against a building and then throwing a match on it.

But John E. Stuerwald, the assistant manager of the Fraud and Arson Bureau, says that in many arson cases the failure to arrest or convict the torch "does not mean complete defeat."

In many cases, he said, the bureau's agents were able to collect sufficient evidence of arson to enable the insurance companies to resist claims successfully.

Mississippi Marcher James Meredith sits on the steps leading to the Madison County Courthouse in Canton, Miss., and removes his boots after completing his 11-day "march against fear." The walk ended Tuesday without incident. (AP Wirephoto)

Mississippi Trek Completed

Meredith Sees March As Start of End in Fear

CANTON, Miss. (AP) — But he said he exposed that James H. Meredith characterizes his march through Mississippi as, "at best, the beginning of the end for fear and injustice."

The last steps of the 165-mile walk brought the 34-year-old civil rights figure to the courthouse square here on Independence Day.

Meredith said the completion of his 11-day march "does not signal a victory. It is a greater manifestation of the black world's historical, traditional and more fundamental defeat."

He said he had failed in one of his primary purposes because "the fear that permeates the life of the Negro in the United States has not been eliminated."

for, 43 against, with 20 abstentions.

Also defeated were Albanian and Cuban resolutions demanding condemnation of Israel.

The outcome left the question of Israeli troop withdrawal and future peace moves up in the air. These issues probably will be returned to the Security Council.

Eban's Triumph

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said the result was "a complete vindication of the Israeli view. Every resolution for withdrawal without peace was rejected very substantially."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, asked if he was satisfied with the outcome, replied: "It isn't a question of satisfaction. We expressed ourselves about this assembly at the outset." The United States had opposed the session, contending the Security Council should continue to deal with the situation, and warned against "inveective and inflammatory statements" that could make the task of peacemaking more difficult.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Mahmoud Fawzi, Egypt's assistant president for foreign affairs, refused to comment.

Milwaukee Celebration

Circus Parade Crowd Estimated at 600,000

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The weather wasn't the best, but 800,000 "one-third again that of Milwaukee's annual Fourth of July circus parade was a thing of brilliance and efficiency. Crowds estimated variously up to 600,000 lined the parade route through the downtown area under overcast and threatening skies amid temperatures in the fifties—Milwaukee's coldest on record for Independence Day.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who, with his wife, rode in a horse-drawn carriage, said he believed the crowd was nearer 800,000 "one-third again that of a year ago."

Perhaps it was the chilly weather, some parade officials said, which caused the procession to move so smartly. The parade finished a three and a half mile route in a bit under two hours.

It consisted of 3,636 persons, 650 horses, 59 wild animals, more than 50 antique cars and 34 bands and drum and bugle corps.

Some of the musical units were from Connecticut, Mississippi, Pennsylvania and Louisiana.

The clowns went through their routines, the bands played and the wild animals paced restlessly in their cages.

But the chief objects of attention were astronaut James Lovell, who attended school in Milwaukee, and the refurbished circus wagons from the Circus World Museum at Baraboo.

Lovell, a Navy captain, was in the reviewing stand and received plenty of attention from marchers and television cameras.

Some circus wagons, drawn by powerful Clydesdales, mules or ponies, carried such diverse passengers as bandmen and a woman posing as the Statue of Liberty, while others were notable for their ornate decoration.

The parade began with the antique automobiles, their passengers dressed in the costumes of a half century ago. The procession ended with the traditional callopie huffing and puffing.

While most spectators hurried to the warmth of buildings and automobiles, about 1,000 circus buffs strolled down to the railroad tracks to watch the reloading of the circus train for its return to Baraboo.

who witnessed the blast. The boys leaped into the water when flames sheathed the boat immediately after the explosion.

Kottke said he had refueled the boat, which was not carrying any passengers at the time, at a fueling pier owned by the boat company. He had backed the craft away from the pier and was about 200 feet off shore when the engine stopped. He went to investigate and when he lifted the engine cover, the blast occurred, he said. The tanks contained 22 gallons of gasoline.

The boat was towed to shore and the King and Waupaca fire departments hosed down the charred hull.
